ETV Controls Eyed . . .

State College Change Nixed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Education Committee Tuesday killed a bill proposing a constitutional amendment which would place the state colleges under the governing authority of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents.

LB180, authored by Sen. Lester Harsh of McCook, died on a 6-1 vote after a public hearing during which the proposal was opposed by representatives of the State Normal Board.

In other action, the committee decided to probe the possibility of amending a pending bill in order to impose controls on programming undertaken by the Nebraska Educational Television Network.

Subcommittee Named

Harsh named a subcommittee composed of Sens. Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha,

Robert Clark of Sidney and Thomas Kennedy of Newman Grove to study the matter.

Held for possible amendment was LB66, a measure which would authorize subordinates to act for the NU chancellor and the state commissioner of education when they are unable to attend meetings of the Nebraska ETV Commission.

LB180 was supported by Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway and members of Gov. Norbert Tiemann's Little Hoover Commission.

Need Seen

Although not speaking in support of the bill, NU Regent Edward Schwartzkopf of Lincoln said "there is a need for coordination" among institutions of higher education in Nebraska.

Cooperative efforts would permit the state to "receive more for its tax dollars and do a better job of providing quality education for its students," he said.

LB180 would have abolished the State Normal Board and, in addition, authorize the NU regents to assume governmental control over junior colleges with their consent and that of the Legislature.

Equalize

Such centralized control would help "equalize educational opportunities" at the various institutions, Harsh said.

State College Coordinator John Gustad said the proposal would render "a grave disservice" to the University and the state colleges.

The regents already "have plenty to do," he told the committee.

The better plan of coordination is provided in LB205, Gustad said. That bill would create a Nebraska Coordinating Council on Higher Education, which would have advisory authority only with respect to NU and the state colleges.

Thieves Not Snowbound

New York (AP) — The mail slowed to a trickle and rail, plane and automobile transportation ground to a halt in the city's 15-inch snowfall.

But thieves still managed to steal 49 cars during the 24-hour period that ended at 7 a.m. Tuesday, police said.

GIRL RESCUED AFTER BEING TRAPPED

Seventeen-year-old Kathy Hale was in the kitchen in her home in Williamsport, Pa., Tuesday when a tractor-trailer rig banged into the house. The truck had a full load. Kathy was pinned in the wreckage for nearly an hour before rescuers hauled her out through the window. Kathy, left, hand over face, was shaken up by her experience. Her injuries were unknown, and authorities were amazed that she survived. There was no word on the truck driver.

Press Hints At War Weariness

. . . U.S. STUDIES ARTICLES

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Paris (AP) — Members of the U.S. delegation to the Vietnam talks are studying a batch of articles in the official Hanoi press hinting at public impatience in North Vietnam for an end to wartime hardships.

The tenor of these articles, lecturing and admonitory in tone, suggests that public knowledge that peace talks are in progress has generated an eagerness for an end to a state of war which has lasted the better part of a quarter-century.

The Paris talks, resuming Thursday, are bogged down in oratory and deadlock.

In Party, Army Papers

The articles appeared in Nhan Dan, official newspaper of the Communist Lao Dong (Workers') Party and Quo Doi Nhan Dan, organ of the North Vietnamese army, a few days in advance of the return to Hanoi of Le Duc Tho, politburo member and special counsellor to Hanoi's delegation in Paris.

There is a vague suggestion in this of some internal Communist Party difficulty connected with war and peace policies. Tho is rated as one of Hanoi's outstanding hawks, who strongly supported last year's Tet lunar new year offensive in South Vietnam in an urge to achieve a decisive victory.

Terms of the articles are obscure enough to prevent drawing solid conclusions, but some here are inclined to look on them as demonstrating that there are pressures working in Hanoi for some movement toward peace.

Complaint

In one article, Nhan Dan complained of a "small number of party members and cadres whose morality and qualities are low."

"They are strongly individualistic," it said. "They think of their own interests first, are not concerned with working for others, are afraid of hardships and difficulties and have fallen into corruption, decadence, waste and luxury . . . They strive for profit and they like their high-ranking and powerful positions."

Nhan Dan said some party people are "overbearing . . . dictatorial and abuse their power." It said there is a lack of discipline, along with "incorrect implementation of the party and state line." Some Communists were declared to have "committed many mistakes." The article demanded criticism of such elements and sharpened party supervision.

In a similar vein, the army newspaper hailed the "correct line of the party regarding the Vietnamese revolution as an integral part of the world revolution." This, too, called for stiff criticism to eliminate such things as "non-Socialist thinking and individualism." Other press articles called for heightened discipline in the ranks of labor.

Anniversaries Soon

One of the pressures working on Hanoi may be the fact that in a year from now, Feb. 3, 1970, the Lao Dong Party will celebrate its 40th anniversary. Its founder, the now frail president Ho Chi Minh, will turn 80 in the spring of 1970.

Communists traditionally set great store by decade anniversaries and birthdays.

There is only a year left for North Vietnam's political leaders to produce something which might be hailed as a crowning achievement of Ho's 60 years as a Communist and nationalist revolutionary, and the leadership's anxiety to meet the deadline could, observers feel, clash with a widespread yearning for peace.

Proposal To Hike Council Pay Advanced

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

A charter amendment to increase City Council members' salaries to $5,000 a year will be forwarded for council approval, it was decided Tuesday.

If approved, the amendment would go before city voters on the April 6 ballot.

A proposal to set council salaries at $3,000 was submitted to the Charter Revision Committee by a subcommittee, but was increased to $5,000 on a 9-5 vote.

Paid For Time

Karl Dickenson, in proposing the $2,000 increase, argued that council members should be paid for the great deal of time they devote to preparing for council meetings.

Council members had indicated earlier to the committee that they spent an average of 20 hours a week on council business.

The charter now provides $20 per meeting.

Lloyd Worley expressed doubt that voters would approve a $5,000 salary. In 1966 an amendment to increase salaries to $3,000 was turned down by city voters.

'Realistic'

Arlen Beam replied that he would rather see something "realistic" defeated than approval of a salary he claimed would not attract the high caliber of personnel the city needs.

He said that if the $5,000 amendment is defeated, "we are no worse off than with the $20 per meeting now granted in the charter."

Councilman Lloyd Hinkley, who had announced he would not run for re-election, was contacted after the meeting and asked if a salary increase would affect his decision.

'No Effect'

"It would not affect me," Hinkley replied, "because I want to spend more time with my family."

He added, however, that the pay hike is needed to encourage other councilmen to continue serving the city.

"I am fearful that we will have one-term council members if something is not done about increasing salaries," he said.

The amendment, if approved by the council, would appear on the ballot as follows:

"Effective May 9, 1969, each member of the City Council shall receive a salary at the rate of $5,000 per year."

★ ★ ★ ★

Revision Of City Salaries Planned By Subcommittee

The Charter Revision Committee charged its subcommittee dealing with council members' salaries to come up with a charter amendment for the May 6 general election revising the relationship of the mayor's salary to those of his department directors.

The charter presently states the mayor shall receive a higher salary than the directors.

Dr. Robert Sittig, chairman of the subcommittee, said discussion with the mayor and City Council members indicated the present arrangement has not worked out as well as intended.

Fred Herrington questioned what would happen if the requirement was dropped.

City Atty. Ralph Nelson said the council then would make salary decisions.

Dickinson said the charter amendment should include a minimum salary for the mayor.

Nelson said passage of the council members' salary hike by the public would repeal the rest of the charter section, which includes the relationship of the mayor's salary to his directors.

Airport Passenger Van Hijacked

Omaha (AP) — An armed man hijacked an airport passenger van Monday night, robbed the passengers, including a Lincoln bank official, of about $280 and forced them to walk for help.

The driver of the eight-passenger van, Darrell England, 810 Janes View Drive, Papillion, said he started from the airport with four passengers late Monday evening.

He said one passenger in the rear pulled out a .38 caliber revolver, pointed at Gene C. Eaton, 43, Lincoln, and ordered England to stop. The incident occurred a block from the central police station.

The gunman took the passengers' billfolds and ordered them from the van. Then he ordered England to stop a few blocks away, took his billfold and told him to walk away.

The van was found a short time later in a parking lot. Inside was the luggage of the passengers and a billfold of Stephen K. Brimhall, 28, Redwood City, Calif., a Stanford University student. The other passenger was Robert L. Zimmerman, 69, Omaha.

The passengers not realizing they were so close to the police station, walked to a store to call police. When England got away he called police from a bar. Eaton, senior vice president of the National Bank of Commerce in Lincoln, said the robbery "was all over in a minute's time."

Rural GI Man Dies In Crash

Grand Island (AP) — A rural Grand Island man died Tuesday evening in the collision of two trucks, one a pickup and one a 16-foot van owned by the Grand Island Elevator Co.

The State Patrol identified the victim as Kenneth L. Heins, 25.

The patrol said the eastbound truck Heins was driving collided at a county road intersection about three miles north and three miles east of here with a pickup driven by Edwin Bergman, 56, of Grand Island.

Saigon Places Ban On Anti-War Songs

© New York Times Service

Saigon — The South Vietnamese government Tuesday banned the anti-war songs of one of the nation's most popular folk singers and composers.

The government ordered that none of the approximately 100 songs written by 30-year-old Trinh Cong Son be played and said tape recordings and sheet music of his work would be confiscated.

No clear explanation of the action was offered by the government, but it appeared to be the latest development in a campaign by President Nguyen Van Thieu to shield his regime from verbal and physical assault.

By last weekend some 50 persons had been jailed for apparently political reasons and a militant Buddhist leader was sternly criticized for a sermon that allegedly slandered the government.

Thieu has said he would vigorously apply martial law to anyone who threatened the stability of his government. There have been some suggestions that Son's music was detrimental to the fighting spirit that Thieu feels is essential in the struggle with the Communists.

"Wars, any wars, bring about death and destruction and I am against war generally," Son said. "Why should I be silenced?"

Son's songs are deeply emotional and at many of this concerts young women are brought to tears. His songs have a Western beat and admittedly have been strongly influenced by Bob Dylan and Joan Baez.

Radicals Plan Rowdy Reception For Nixon

© New York Times Service

Berlin — West Berlin's radical left-wingers threatened Tuesday to stage militant demonstrations in this outpost city on the day of President Nixon's visit, Feb. 27.

Students at Berlin's Free University, one of the campus strongholds of leftists, said they also planned to march in protest of the holding in Berlin of West Germany's presidential election.

The West German electoral college is to meet here March 5.

The students, seeking to join forces with other left-wing groups, asserted that the "toughest police measures" would not prevent them from giving Nixon a rowdy reception.

A resolution adopted by the university's radical student body branded Nixon as "a shifty agent" of "the most reactionary wing of America's bourgeois society" and declared "U.S. imperialism" was one of the main enemies facing humanity.

The East-West controversy over the convening of the electoral college in Berlin has caused the East Germans to clamp down on travel restrictions to the city.

The Russians, in a further move apparently designed to heighten tension, sent one of their top-ranking military leaders, Marshal Ivan Yakubovsky, supreme commander of the Warsaw Pact forces, to East Berlin Monday for consultations.

The marshal conferred Tuesday with East German Premier Willi Stoph and top Russian and East German military leaders about questions of "current political significance," according to ADN, the East German press service.

American and German officials in West Berlin expressed confidence that both Nixon's visit and the West German election can be carried out according to plans.

Riot Had Little Link With GOP Convention

Washington (AP) — The street riot during the Republican National Convention in Miami had little connection with the convention and stemmed from the same causes that feed most urban racial disorders, says a task force for the National Commission on Violence.

The task force identified police ineptness and a "get-tough" policy by former police chief Walter Headley as major contributors to the disorder.

The looting, burning and gunfire while the convention was being held last August killed four persons. The commission, which earlier described the disorders at the Democratic National Convention as a "police riot," assigned Florida attorneys Louis J. Hector and Paul L. E. Helliwell to head the Miami task force.

The task force said the prime causes of the riot were "the usual pattern of unemployment and underemployment, poor schools, early school termination, high rent for poor housing, poor health conditions and high incidence of crime."

But the Hector-Helliwell report listed as a prime factor fueling the discontent the news conference held by Chief Headley in December 1967, when he was quoted as saying: "When the looting starts, the shooting starts."

"The black community came to believe that the Headley policy revived within the Miami police a basic intolerance toward blacks and encouraged unnecessary police harshness and insolence toward them," said the task force report. Headley died Nov. 16, 1968.

India's Ruling Party Set Back In West Bengal

(C) New York Times News Service

New Delhi — India's ruling Congress Party suffered a stunning setback in midterm elections in West Bengal, the state where most of the country's heavy industry is located. A 12-party coalition dominated by Communists defeated Prime Minister Indira Ghandi's party just as it was beginning to congratulate itself on a comeback in other states.

Israeli Regime Survives Vote

Jerusalem — The reported readiness of Israel to yield captured west bank territories withstood a vote of no confidence in the Israeli parliament. Political crisis flared in Jerusalem, however, as the debate over peace terms moved into public view.

Canadian Move Viewed Dimly

Washington — The United States told the Canadian government that its intention to explore the possibility of diplomatic ties with Communist China could endanger the international position of the Nationalist Chinese government on Taiwan.

Cuba Responds Favorably

Washington — Cuba has responded favorably to an American proposal to permit hijacked planes to return to the United States with their passengers aboard if the pilot and airline take responsibility for their safety. (More on Page 2.)

Wiretaps Authorized

Washington — The Justice Department has moved quickly to keep Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell's promise to use a new surveillance power granted by Congress last June. Mitchell has authorized wiretaps in internal security cases and investigations of organized crime. (More on Page 14.)

$5.5 Billion Down Payment

Washington — The $5.5 billion cost of the Sentinel missile defense system is but the first installment on a full system to fend off a Chinese missile attack, the Defense Department said. Locating the Sentinel in populated areas, it said, is necessary for protection against a sophisticated Chinese offensive.

Economy 'Still Warm'

Washington — The employment picture for January, with a 3.3 unemployment rate that matches December's 15-year record low, lent no credence to concern that the ecenomy was cooling off. "It's just as warm as it has been for several months," said a Labor Department official. (More on Page 2.)

New York Still Crippled

New York — Three days after the city was incapacitated by snow, the effects of the storm lingered. Highways remained clogged and public transit proceeded uncertainly, if at all. The best way in or out of Kennedy International Airport was by air. As runways were cleared, many of those stranded in waiting rooms for three days began taking planes, but roads leading from the airport remained "all fouled up."

Fast Return Set After Hijacks

Washington (UPI) — The State Department said Tuesday the Fidel Castro regime had agreed to speed up the return of passengers aboard hijacked U.S. airliners by allowing them to fly out on the same plane that took them to Cuba.

Some U.S. officials viewed the "understanding" worked out through the Swiss Embassy in Havana as a hopeful sign that some formal agreement might soon be reached that would return hijackers to the United States for prosecution.

Until Monday, Cuba would only permit the crew of a hijacked airliner to fly back to the United States on it. Passengers had had to remain behind and wait, usually overnight, for a chartered plane to arrive from Miami to fly them out.

Did Not Solve

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said the United States was gratified by the "understanding," but he noted it did not solve the basic hijacking problem. As for progress toward that goal, he said he could only express "hope."

McCloskey said the "understanding" was not a blanket agreement to expedite the return of passengers aboard all planes, but would be decided on a case-by-case basis. U.S. officials, however, expected the new procedure to be followed by the Cubans in most cases.

Last summer, Cuban Premier Castro announced that for "reasons of safety" hijacked airliners would not be permitted to return to the United States with their passengers aboard. He never really explained what he meant by "reasons of safety."

109 Passengers

Monday, an Eastern Airlines DC8 returned to Miami with 109 passengers and eight crewmen six hours after a gunman forced the pilot to fly to Cuba after taking off from San Juan, P.R.

McCloskey also disclosed that the Cuban government has shown some interest in a U.S. proposal to send to Cuba any Cubans in the United States who wanted to return home.

The United States proposed last year that such persons wishing to return to Cuba could do so aboard the "freedom airlift," which returns to Cuba empty each day after bringing refugees from Cuba to Miami.

Borman Praises German Space Scientists

© New York Times Service

Bonn —Col. Frank Borman flew into the West German capital Tuesday with a bad cold, but managed to get through a grueling schedule of receptions and conferences.

At a crowded news conference, the Apollo 8 astronaut paid conditional tribute to the past achievements of German rocket and space scientists.

Asked whom he considered to be the "father" of space flight he replied:

"I think less of a father than of a trinity."

Goddard, Oberth, Ziolkovsky

Borman then cited a German, Prof. Hermann Oberth, who projected mathematical formulas for interplanetary travel in 1923; a Russian, Konstantin Ziolkovsky, who postulated rocket propulsion in 1903, and an American, Robert H. Goddard, the rocket engine inventor.

Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger invited Oberth, 74, to lunch with Borman.

Pressed by newsmen about the "German role" of men like Wernher von Braun in his Apollo 8 lunar journey, Borman replied:

"Our flight round the moon was an American success if which I am very proud. In a very real sense, however, it was a much broader achievement of all the giants of the past."

He then repeated the names of Oberth, Ziolkovsky and Goddard.

Wants Accelerated Technology

The astronaut made a strong plea for expansion of the U.S. space program as a "vital" spur to 'accelerated technology at a pace never known except in time of war."

He predicted that the next major Americas project would probably be a "large earth-orbiting space station," but declined to evaluate President Nixon's recent suggestion that the U.S. space program budget be reduced.

Borman said that since "the essence of the human spirit is exploration," there will be flights to the other planets in the Solar System, "sooner than anyone in this room dares predict."

Fighting Flares Up

Saigon (AP) — Fighting flared on two sides of Saigon about midnight Tuesday, heightening speculation that enemy forces may be maneuvering for an attack during the Tet lunar new year period.

Communist gunners also shelled a provincial capital in the Mekong Delta and hit at least two South Vietnamese military positions.

In other action, the battleship New Jersey moved back on the line, blasting enemy bunkers on the coast below Da Nang Monday.

One of the fights just outside Saigon began an hour before midnight at a major bridge on National Highway 4, where the U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade has an artillery support base. It is only eight miles southwest of the capital.

An enemy force of unknown size opened up first on the Binh Dien bridge and nearby base with mortar and rocket-grenade rounds, then followed up with a ground attack using automatic weapons. The U.S. and South Vietnamese regional force troops fought back with the support of American artillery.

The second clash occurred 23 miles northeast of the capital when U.S. Army helicopter gunships on night reconnaissance missions spotted about 100 enemy soldiers moving in an open area, headquarters said. In the same area at about the same time, a ground reconnaissance team sighted a number of 122mm rockets in launching positions, spokesman said.

Artillery barrages, helicopter gunships and jet fighter-bombers struck at the troops and the rocket positions "throughout the night," headquarters said, and reported the bodies of 50 enemy soldiers.

Venezuelan Jet Hijacked

Miami (AP) — An armed hijack squad ordered a short-range Venezuelan airliner to Havana Tuesday but settled for a safe landing at the nearer Santiago Airport in eastern Cuba.

Officials of the government-run airline, Aeropostal, said in Maracaibo they believed the DC9 twin jet was hijacked by seven youths who made reservations a day earlier.

Although no official confirmation was offered, airline spokesmen speculated the plane might have been hijacked in retaliation for Venezuela's seizure last Nov. 20 of the Cuban fishing vessel Alcrin in Venezuelan waters. The boat was released.

Jobless Rate Still 3.3%

Washington (UPI) — The unemployment rate rose in January for adults and dropped for teenagers, but the booming economy kept total joblessness at only 3.3% of the nation's labor force, a 15-year low.

In reporting this Tuesday, the government found nothing in the figures to suggest success in its efforts to cool off the economy and thereby curb inflation.

"I don't see it," said Harold Goldstein, deputy commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The economy, he said, "is just as warm as it has been for several months."

The only dramatic change in the employment picture since December was a full one per cent drop in joblessness among teenagers, down to 11.7%.

Unemployment among adult men, mostly in the 20-24 year age group, rose from 1.8% to 2%. The rate for adult women was unchanged at 3.5%.

Also the same was the jobless ratio between whites and nonwhites — 2 to 1. The unemployment rate for white workers in January was 3%, compared to 6% for nonwhites.

Total civilian employment in January was 77.2 million, compared to 76.7 million in December on a seasonally adjusted basis. Unemployment was unchanged at 2.6 million persons.

6 Alternate Jurors Seated For Trial Of Sirhan Sirhan

Los Angeles (AP) — Six alternate jurors for Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's murder trial were accepted by prosecution and defense Tuesday after Sirhan himself rejected one candidate because she gave him "some very hard looks."

The 18-member panel will weigh evidence in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy by gunfire last June. It will hear opening statements and first testimony Thursday.

The three men and three women alternates will sit flanking the regular eight-man, four-woman jury. If illness, a death in the family or some other emergency forces a regular juror to leave the trial, an alternate will move into that juror's chair.

Agreement on alternates came with dramatic swiftness after 52 candidates were questioned and dismissed over 4½ days. It would have come minutes earlier but for Sirhan's own nay.

Russo Doubted He Heard Shaw Plotting JFK Death

© New York Times Service

New Orleans — The state's chief witness testified Tuesday he had told numerous persons he had doubts that New Orleans businessman Clay L. Shaw was the man he had heard conspiring in 1963 to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Perry Raymond Russo said at one time he even told a New Orleans police sergeant who had given him a lie detector test that he would have to answer in the negative if he were forced to say "yes" or "no" to the question as to whether Shaw was at a party where he heard the assassination "conspiracy" discussed.

Russo, a 27-year-old encyclopedia salesman, said he told Sgt. Edward O'Donnell that he had identified Shaw positively at a preliminary hearing in March, 1967, because Shaw's chief defense attorney, F. Irvin Dymond, "had gone for the jugular" on cross examination at that hearing.

The conversation with O'Donnell took place in either June or July, 1967, after Shaw had been ordered to stand trial largely on the basis of Russo's testimony.

Shaw is being tried for conspiring to murder, a charge punishable in Louisiana by one to 20 years in prison.

Russo said also he never heard Shaw agree to any plot to kill President Kennedy.

The only person he heard mention murdering Kennedy, he said, was David W. Ferrie, a former airline pilot and hypnotist who died shortly after New Orleans Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison began an investigation of the assassination.

"We're going to get him," Russo testified he heard Ferrie say.

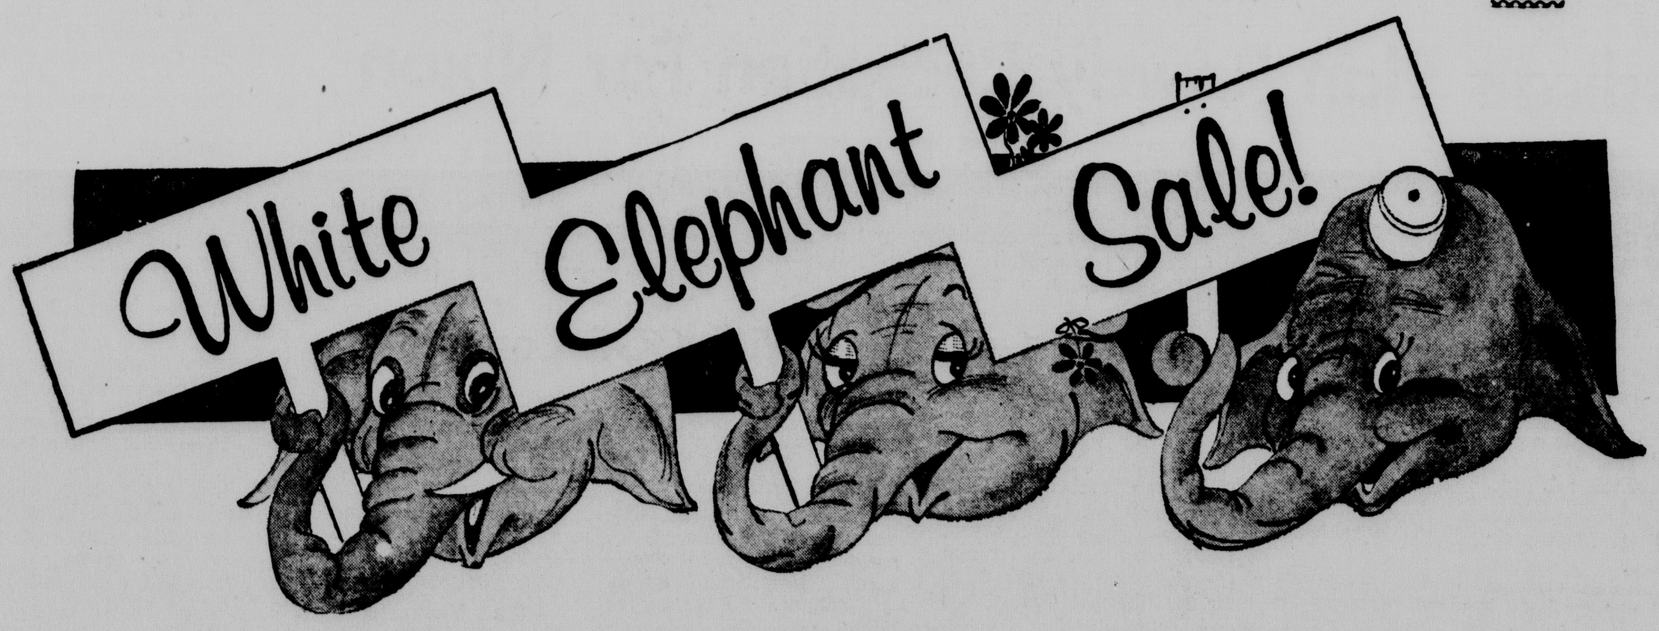

Neither Shaw nor Lee Harvey Oswald, the others placed at the meeting by Russo, said anything about killing Kennedy, the witness testified.

Tractor Testing Salute Planned

. . . At Ag Exposition In March

Omaha (UPI) — The third annual Triumph of Agriculture Exposition March 11-12 here will include a salute to the 50th anniversary of the University of Nebraska's tractor testing station in Lincoln.

The ingenuity of Iowa State University's agricultural engineering staff at Ames will be demonstrated by an experimental "giant bale haymaker."

The tractor testing station, situated on the University of Nebraska East Campus, supplies tractor manufacturers with this country's only available official performance and specification test results.

Every tractor sold in Nebraska must have passed these official tests. Since most makes and models marketed in Nebraska are also sold throughout the country, the Nebraska tests are of national significance, according to Les Larson, testing station director.

Established In '19

The station was established by the 1919 Nebraska Legislature.

The Iowa State bale haymaker forms approximately a one-half ton bale from a windrow. The oversize bale can be handled mechanically and efficiently from windrow to feedbunk, the ISU engineers said.

Normal Board To Hunt For Coordinator

Ogallala (UPI) — State Normal Board Chairman James A. Lane said the board will start looking immediately for a successor to Normal Board coordinator John Gustad, who has announced his resignation.

But Lane said the fact the legislature may abolish the post will make it "difficult" to secure anyone for the post at present.

"I'd say we're going to have to start looking," Lane said. "Our next meeting is Feb. 18 and it's going to be kicked around.

"We'll look but I don't know how we're going to come out on it," he said. "We're going to be in tough shape until this is resolved."

Gustad announced his resignation from the $25,000 a year post last week, effective July 1. He is leaving to become president of Fort Hays Kansas State College.

Gustad said at the time of his resignation one of the reasons he is leaving is because of the bill now being considered by the legislature's education committee which would abolish the post of coordinator.

Mr. Rhinehart was found Feb. 4 lying near the garage of a home in Brock. His hands and feet were frozen.

Lincoln Residents Saw Sunlight Only 88 Hours During January

January was a dreary month for sunlight, the U.S. weather bureau said Tuesday.

The sun peeked out over Omaha for only 64 hours during the month, the least time in January dating back to 1897. The 64 hours was only 22% of the possible time for sunlight.

Lincoln saw only 88 hours of sunlight (30% of the possible) which is the lowest since 1905. North Platte also had only 30% of its possible sunlight.

The 12.4 inches of snowfall in North Platte was the second highest accumulation on record for that area.

Temperatures throughout the state were low but not record-breaking, the weather bureau said, and the month was characterized by low temperatures, frequent light snows, and an unusual amount of cloudiness, fog and freezing drizzle or rain.

All portions of the state had greater than usual precipitation except the Panhandle. The northeast and east central sections of the state had twice their normal amounts of precipitation.

Any 'Scapegoat' Attempt Would Provoke Vigorous Reaction In Congress—Hruska

Verdigre (AP) — Any attempt to "make scapegoats" of Peublo Commander Lloyd Bucher and his crew will "provoke a most vigorous reaction" in Congress, Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., said Tuesday.

The jurisdiction of the Naval Board of Inquiry looking into the incident is limited to naval operations, Hruska said, and "several members of the Senate Armed Services Committee have indicated that the committee will proceed to look into the matter."

Hruska said the responsibility for the incident is shared by the Navy and other federal departments and agencies.

The inquiry is "not a trial, nor is it a court-martial," he said, but an attempt to ascertain the facts in order to recommend action to the chief of naval operations.

"What is causing so much concern is the fear that the result will be to make Commander Bucher and his crew the scapegoats of abysmally poor planning by higher authorities," Hruska said in a speech at a Republican gathering here.

"The courage and stamina they showed during their long imprisonment have earned them commendation and gratitude," Hruska said, "certainly not discipliniary action."

Dawes School Group Delays Decision On Fort Robinson

Chadron (UPI) — The Dawes County school reorganization committee delayed for "at least 45 days" a decision on what to do with approximately 75 acres of land in the Fort Robinson State Park.

State officials asked county school officials to attach the area to some district because park Superintendent Vince Rotherham has three elementary school children attending Crawford city schools and is liable for their entire tuition.

Spokesmen for the state said there is no law to allow them to pay the tuition,

Nebraska News

Dawes County School Supt. Bonnie Manley said.

The committee decided this week to study the boundaries of nearby school districts that may be considered for attachment to Fort Robinson making one complete new district.

The Fort Robinson land has no valuation since it is state owned land and would produce no revenue for any district to which it is attached.

LB566 introduced by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly is presently before the committee. This bill would provide that the Game Commission pay tuition for children of parents residing on land controlled by the Game Commission.

A decision is expected by March 27.

Knutzen Backs Near 5% Raise For Teachers

Omaha (AP)— Supt. Owen A. Knutzen proposed a base pay increase for teachers in the Omaha school district of "between 4 and 5%."

He said he would like to go higher, "but we can't do it and stay within 8% of this year's per pupil costs." He said a 4% raise would increase the base to $6,500 from the present $6,250.

Frank Williams, executive secretary of the Omaha Education Association, said teachers "won't settle for a $6,500 base."

He said OEA's proposed new contract calls for an increase equal to the $550 teachers received this year.

YMCA Sets New Member Goal Of 3,000

The Lincoln YMCA has set a city-wide goal for 3,112 new members in 1969, President Ed Copple announced at the annual meeting Tuesday night.

Adding 3,112 new members would increase dues and fees by $68,800, according to executive secretary William Schenk.

The new member goals for each division includes Northeast, 1,000 Southeast, 600; Central, 1,400; and camp, 112.

A total of 279,777 persons attended all YMCA events and services last year, it was reported. Income and expense for the year totaled $284,276.

The works in a drawer.

10 PLUG-IN SOLID-STATE MINI-CIRCUITS

Quasar TV's "works in a drawer" are ten tubeless solid-state mini-circuits ingeniously arranged in a pull-out drawer right on the front of the set.

Only the picture tube and the rectifier are not solid-state. Everything else is tubeless mini-circuits designed to work without burning out.

If mini-circuit service is ever needed, the drawer slides out, the circuit is unplugged, a replacement is snapped in, and the drawer is closed. It can be done right in your home, not the repair shop.

No other Color TV gives you both solid-state dependability and the stay-at-home serviceability of Quasar TV.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The idea of a Coordinating Council on Higher Education sounds good, and it may well be that way, but the proposal should receive careful consideration by state senators. The measure was advanced to the floor of the Legislature this week by a unanimous vote of the Education Committee.

Reports say that the bill would regulate only state-supported institutions of higher education, except the four state teachers colleges and the University of Nebraska. This, however, may not be everyone's interpretation of the bill.

Actually, the new council is empowered to delve into all aspects of the University of Nebraska and the four state teachers colleges. And while its role is said to be advisory in this connection, the law requires any of those institutions to document in writing their reasons for "refusing" to follow the recommendations of the council.

Thus, it is questionable how much authority the council will have or how much power it will be able to wield. It could have considerable weight, depending upon the budget it is given and the personnel it is able to hire.

It is not limited in this respect in the bill, which means it will be another spending agency in state government. Nebraska seems bent on saving money by creating new agencies, a theory we find a little hard to buy.

Nor would it seem that the work of the council would be limited to institutions receiving state aid of some kind or another. Its authority covers what is most often referred to as "higher education."

The bill states that "publicly-supported institutions of higher education shall mean an institution providing post-high-school training and receiving funds from any taxing unit in the state."

★

"Post-high-school" training may or may not mean what the average person would think it means. "Post" high school means beyond high school. That could mean adult education of all kinds, both vocational and academic and for people of all ages.

It is quite possible that the council would have control and jurisdiction in areas in which it should have no interest. And what should its specific interests be?

That is a good question. As we said, the idea of coordinating higher education seems like a good one. But when you look at the present State Board of Education, it makes you wonder.

The minute we get to the state level of government, it seems that we get anything but coordination. In the state board which now regulates — if that is the right word — primary and secondary education in the state, we find disorder, at best.

The board is loaded with arch-conservatives and besieged by narrow-minded interests who consider local control to be their god. Certainly, the education of children is no longer the demonstrated chief interest of the state board. The board has become a brass band for educational ostriches.

★

Which way will a Coordinating Council on Higher Education go? Will it, too, determine that education should be a state of anarchy in which everyone does what he wants?

Will it, too, decide that the disciplines of education are of no importance? Maybe it will even decide that education isn't too important and we should conserve the money we might otherwise spend on it.

What happens if the council decides the University of Nebraska is spending too much time on research and orders all such activity stopped? The university would "refuse to comply" but the battle would be joined.

Such a council, in theory, should be a fine thing but it might or might not work out that way.

'The Show Must Go On—And On—'

Branch Bank Alternative

Another round in the branch banking fight began this week when Sen. Terry Carpenter proposed an alternative whereby several auxiliary teller facilities could be established, or a bank could be authorized to set up an auxiliary facility in another town.

Present law restricts the number of auxiliary facilities, usually a drive-in, to one, which must be located within 2,600 feet of the parent bank. Several bills have been introduced, one which would permit state-wide branch banking.

Whether Sen. Carpenter thinks his proposal is not branch banking because under it the auxiliary facility could not make loans and opponents think it is branch banking is simply a matter of argument. The proposal is a watered-down alternative.

A spokesman for the opposition to branch banking, largely bankers, said branch banking will "severely retard and in some cases eliminate" small community banks and thus endanger the free enterprise system. What the bankers really fear is competition.

If somebody can do the job better, even if he's bigger, he should get the opportunity to do it and the public deserves the opportunity.

Gov. Tiemann, who has not made his position clear on branch banking, at least thinks the Legislature should look into it because it could be good for economic development. Small town banks sometimes are unable to make loans for industrial or agricultural development because they don't have enough capital.

Keep A Cool Head

As the younger element of society might say, we should not lose our cool over the State Department of Motor Vehicles. The new director of that department, Emmett Dennis, has come under scrutiny for asking for the resignations of nine staff members. Additionally, substantial numbers of county officials have reportedly complained about their relationships with the department.

Obviously it is impossible at this point either to defend or condemn Dennis. Not enough facts have been made public nor has he had sufficient time on the job on which to be adequately judged.

The requested mass resignations are not exactly a routine procedure but may or may not be justified. What is needed, it seems, is an active interest in the department on the part of the governor's office.

It is improper for Governor Norbert Tiemann to adopt a hands-off attitude and let the department develop simply as its director sees fit. The governor should have knowledge of the department's operations and an opinion as to their validity.

If he lacks this, which he apparently does, he should obtain the information without delay. He should know the background of both the resignations and the complaints that come from county officials. Then, he ought to make a decision as to what is right and wrong and let the public know his position.

It is wrong to assume that because controversy has developed over the department, it is poorly administered. But both Dennis and the governor have an obligation to set the record straight by giving the public sufficient information on which to form an opinion.

BOB CONSIDINE

Abe In The 20th Century

NEW YORK — Abraham Lincoln was an ugly man. He would have been too tall for television. His voice would not have projected. His beard would have been the subject of savage cartoons if his presidential career had been advanced a century. Opponents would remember that he once thought it was a pretty good idea to ship all the U.S. Negroes back to Africa.

He would have been considered an ultimate square, what with those crazy black clothes with the long coats and the wide pants-legs, although the beard undoubtedly would have turned the kids on. That business about God would have had him in hot water with the champions of the separation of Church and State. His problems with his wife have been the source of guarded items in somebody's New York or Washington gossip column. His lonesome strolls in Washington, late at night when he couldn't sleep, would have resulted in his being mugged.

He couldn't afford the railroad fare to go from Springfield, Ill., to Chicago for the convention that nominated him. He could not have understood the Republican convention in Miami Beach, which nominated Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew. He never heard of Miami Beach. It is doubtful if he would have had those four Men of God praying at his inauguration. He didn't believe in churchmen. This would have caused grave misgivings among the religious press, and probably a charge or two that he was a communist.

There was a play written years ago called "If Booth Had Missed." The crazy actor comes on in the first act, slips into the President's box at Ford's Theater, and fires his trusty old Derringer at the back of Lincoln's head. Booth, like most actors, couldn't hit a bull in the horns with a shovel. He misses, is seized and swiftly hanged. Lincoln, after saying to Mary Todd Lincoln, "You and your — — theater parties!" goes home to the White House, ventures into his second term and is nearly impeached near its end, as was President Andrew Johnson, his successor.

Lincoln didn't have much fun in the White House, even though he didn't have news conferences. He did a lot of standing around, looking out windows. It wasn't a gala administration. He had a lot of Union Army bums living in the East Room. Some of them even raised tents in that magnificent room, in their incredible stupidity. They were supposed to protect the place in case of Confederate attack. This is the same room in which Abigail Adams hung her wash, and President Nixon now holds his meetings with the Washington press corps.

Lincoln could not have understood some of the aspects of today's presidency. His means of conveyance was by carriage and horse. He would have found it hard to believe that a vehicle heavier than air could fly. He understood the hot air and gas balloon well enough: the Union armies used it as a means of spying on Southern troop build-ups and the gathering of Confederate supplies. He could not have understood Air Force One or the helicopters that lift a modern president from the White House lawn he knew so well to something called Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland.

Lincoln's public relations staff (he didn't have a flack) would have asked him not to say such things as, "Nobody has ever expected me to be president. In my poor, lean, lank face, nobody has ever seen that any cabbages were sprouting . . . Seriously, I do not think I am fit for the presidency."

Abe had a good way of defining guts.

"I can't spare this man; he fights," he said of U.S. Grant in 1862. When Grant's enemies assured the President the general was an alky, Lincoln said, "If I knew what brand of whiskey he drinks, I would send a barrel of it to my other generals."

That wouldn't go over very well today, but it had something to do with preserving the Union. Lincoln admired Grant for his tenacity of purpose. "When Grant once gets possession of a place, he holds on to it as if he inherited it," he said in 1864.

Mary Todd gave him a hard time before he was president. In 1845 she said of her gangling fellow, much to his embarrassment, "Yes, he is a favorite everywhere. He is to be president of the United States some day; if I had not thought so, I never would have married him, for you can see he is not pretty. But look at him! Doesn't he look as if he would make a magnificent president?"

If Pat had said that, Dick would still be in the Wall Street law firm.

Great Plains Report

Clay Center, Neb.

May I thank The Star for the fine coverage of the controversy over the Great Plains Report. It is a subject of great interest to all the people of Nebraska and the news media performed a great service to the people by making the information available.

I have for many years read with interest your fine editorials and find them thought-provoking and educational. However, the editorial of Saturday, Feb. 8, concerning the action on the Great Plains Report is contrary to your usual good analysis of the essence of a problem. You state correctly that the major overtone of the Great Plains controversy is the question of where the responsibility of education of the child rests. As you put it: "Does it belong to the parent or the state?" Your conclusion is that "it is mighty tough to buy the 'local control' argument over the project's objectives of improved educational opportunity for all children."

You might be criticized for drawing the conclusion that adopting the objectives of the report would improve educational opportunity for all children of the state. I daresay most people of this state disagree with you on this point. Total power to control education in the hands of a few men at the state level, much larger schools, abandonment of a hundred new school facilities built in the last five years and the bussing of children over great distances (as would have to be done if the report had been accepted) do not ipso facto mean better educational opportunity for our children.

But, the main fault of the editorial is your conception of "the state." It must be conceded to you that "by constitution, the state of Nebraska is responsible for the education of the children of Nebraska." The question is: What is the state of Nebraska? It is not Dr. Floyd Miller. It is not the State Department of Education. It is not even the State Board of Education or the governor. It is the people of Nebraska. And, the people have spoken on this subject. They do not want Great Plains; they do not want forced consolidation; and, they do not appreciate the unauthorized expenditure of taxpayers' funds for the compiling of a report such as this. As Governor Tiemann said, two state senators lost office because of public reaction to this controversy. It appears it would be well for the State Board of Education and the governor to investigate not only the unauthorized use of state funds but also whether Dr. Floyd Miller, a major contributor and supporter of the Great Plains Report which has been rejected, any longer has use in the Nebraska educational system. His policies have been expressed in speeches, such as to the South Platte Chambers of Commerce, and in his total support to the Great Plains Report and these policies are contrary to the policies of the State Board of Education and the people of the state.

Driver Inspection

Lincoln, Neb.

Mr. Jack Frost has put some pertinent questions to the director of the State Motor Vehicles Department so far as the current car inspection is concerned.

I believe these questions should be extended or even more pertinent, to the drivers of these vehicles, especially if the motive behind this whole program is sincere in really trying to make our highways and streets safer to drive on. Is it not possible to eliminate all the body and mechanical safety hazards on our cars and do nothing about the safety hazard behind the wheel and still do very little about increasing the safety margin on our roads?

Drivers of every car should be asked such questions concerning speed and driving? Is this car ever driven by you or anyone in your family who takes a drink or two of any alcoholic beverage shortly before driving? Are you a total abstainer?

A notation of answers should appear on the sticker, such as "Safe Driver" or "Unsafe Driver At Times." An offense could be checked against a sticker, as well as a driver's license, for all hazards of driving.

Garrison Charges Move To The Court's Decision

NEW YORK — The time has finally arrived — after two years of welkin-ringing charges, mysterious claims of secret evidence and round-the-world headlines — for big Jim Garrison to put up, as the saying goes, or at least quiet down.

The flamboyant New Orleans district attorney, who is six and a half feet in his shoes (and a lot taller when he stands on his press clippings), must now prove to a jury's satisfaction his repeated claim that he has "solved" the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

This, of course, is a different solution from that of the Warren Commission.

The butterfly for this pin is Clay L. Shaw, a wealthy and artistic retired businessman who, Garrison says, masterminded a sinister conspiracy to murder the young President.

Garrison has been saying this since Feb. 20, 1967. He's said it in newspaper interviews . . . he's repeated it in personal appearances around the country . . . and he's even starred in an hour-long TV special to tell the country personally he has proof that Shaw conspired with Lee Harvey Oswald, a former airline pilot named David Ferrie, and "others."

Oswald and Ferrie are both dead. And Shaw has denied ever meeting either of them, much less hatching up a murder plot.

Garrison also accused the FBI of withholding evidence supporting his claims. He even accused the CIA of withholding the names of the various people who, in his version, pulled the triggers in Dallas.

Garrison accused the Dallas police of providing "protection" for the assassins, whom he identifies as a "handful of tremendously oil-rich psychotics."

Under the Garrison theory, Oswald did not kill Kennedy. He was only a decoy in the actual "crossfire" of seven anti-Castro Cubans scattered around Dealey Plaza, including that one sniper who popped up, gun in hand, from a sewer in front of the presidential limousine.

Garrison dismissed the findings of the Warren Commission and, just two weeks ago, those of four medical experts who re-examined the locked-up photos and reaffirmed that the President was killed by bullets fired from behind and above him, just as the Warren Commission said

Now the charges move from the newspapers to the courtroom and the sober contemplation of a judge and 12 jurors.

And it is fitting that this New Orleans drama reaches the stage just as the carefree uproar behind the gay masks of Mardi Gras gives way to the grim, barefaced introspection of Lent.

Report To President On Violence Pinpoints Areas Of Greatest Crime In City Ghettoes

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has found his campaign charges about crime in the capital to be distressingly accurate. Since he settled in the White House, gunplay has become so common that downtown Washington may wind up more notorious than Dodge City.

Two bold brigands even held up the Central Violations Bureau where Washington traffic tickets are paid. They made off with $1,208 while upstairs several uniformed policemen munched on sandwiches and discussed the President's latest ideas for bringing Washington crime under control.

In the back rooms of Congress, meanwhile, alarmed legislators are talking about the need for drastic steps to curb violent crime. One idea that is gaining support: mandatory minimum sentence of 20 years for anyone caught using a gun to commit a crime.

The National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence has summed up the problem in a progress report to the President.

"When violence threatens the personal security of our citizens, when the price of assuming leadership in society is a substantial risk of injury or death, when force is used to influence the vital decisions of government, then the basis of social order is threatened," declares the unpublished report.

Taking the FBI's crime figures for 1967, the commission noted that "more than 12,000 Americans were victims of criminal homicide. Police also reported 253,000 aggravated assaults, 27,100 forcible rapes, and 202,050 robberies. This volume of violent crime compares unfavorably, both absolutely and on a per capita basis, with other industrial nations."

The commission found the heaviest concentration of crime "among the poor, the ethnic minorities who dwell in the city ghettoes. The areas of lowest per capita income and highest unemployment, of lowest level of average educational attainment, of poorest housing, and of highest infant mortality rate are also areas of high crime.

"A recent survey in Chicago indicates that the annual risk of physical assault for the black ghetto dweller is 1 in 77; for the white middle class citizen, the odds are 1 in 2,000; and for the upper middle class suburbanite, the odds are 1 in 10,000."

The report pointed out that "respect for law is eroded when the law has a differential impact on the poor and the disadvantaged as compared to other elements of society. The criminal justice system can then be perceived as being 'stacked against' the poor, the black and the uneducated, who are more likely than other defendants to be held in jail awaiting trial because they cannot make bail, or to be sentenced after trial to a correctional institution which does not correct . . .

"A major complaint of ghetto residents is the apparent failure of the law-enforcement apparatus to provide adequate police protection in the ghetto. There is some reason to believe that the police — rationing their limited manpower and facilities — maintain less rigorous standards of law-enforcement in the ghetto, tolerating there activities such as narcotics traffic that they would not tolerate elsewhere and failing to respond to calls for help with the same urgency as in white areas.

"For the poor, the rule of law may be seen as one-sided and oppressive. Making legal services widely available to the poor can in fact be an important part of the strategy of public order, for if the disadvantaged have little or no affirmative access to the courts, they may resort to other, more violent solutions of their problems."

The commission also has a word of warning for those advocates of social change who "purposely violate laws, not to challenge the validity of those laws, but rather to express their objection to some other policy they oppose."

While conceding the sincerity of "many who engage in such conduct," the commission declares. "Despite the bravery and sincerity that distinguish it, conscientious dissent must always compete against another value that makes dissent itself possible—the value of an orderly, representative society in which the rights of all are defined and enforced by law."

2 Naval Science Faculty Members Honored

Two faculty members in the University of Nebraska's Department of Naval Science received medals in recognition of their activities in Vietnam in a ceremony held Tuesday afternoon.

Lt. Cmdr. Peter Daniel Smith was presented the Navy Achievement Medal and Lt. Ian Macdonald Bailey the Bronze Star by Capt. H. A. Pahl, professor of naval science and commander of the naval ROTC program at the university.

Smith, an associate professor, was cited for his service as operations officer on the USS Steinaker during combat operations from May 20 to 30, 1968.

Bailey, an assistant professor, drew praise for his devotion to duty and professionalism while commanding a division of up to 23 SWIFT boats involved in combat patrols and surveillance along the coast of Vietnam.

A native of Springfield, Mass., Smith holds a bachelor of science degree in management from American International College and is a graduate of officer candidate school.

Bailey is a native of Panama City, Fla., and holds a degree from Emory University.

Mill 5 Centuries Old

Amsterdam — The earliest Dutch windmill still standing dates to the 15th century and was used for grinding corn.

Chilly days around here. The woodpile is melting away. The Siamese cat has her winter coat, a decorative animal upon the hearth.

The mailman cometh with a heavy burden—everybody's moving around this year. The U.S. will deliver two million passports—"The Secretary of State of the United States of America hereby requests all whom it may concern to permit the citizen of the United States named herein to pass without delay or hindrance . . ."

Where away, friend? The Roman cities of Britain? The long Atlantic beaches of Portugal? Roebuck and cranberries and Rhine wine in a dark-paneled gasthaus in the Black Forest?

The head doctors think all this travel shows an uneasy spirit. I mean, man, you don't go to Europe to tour the monuments. You're getting rid of your tensions.

Man is tense as a fox in a forest fire.

Television helps — the man says. It only makes me more nervous. But I don't have a string of letters after my name to make it stick.

The doctor said: "If you stopped radio and television for a week, a great deal of unconscious fear would become conscious. After three days, the hospitals would be full."

☆ ☆ ☆

To ward off tension, many prominent men have developed little untensers.

Conrad Hilton dances. The manager of the Athens Hilton phones and says: "Somebody swiped the sheets in Room 501."

Hilton does not quiver. Does not go into a rage. He rises and one, two, three, four around the room. Doesn't even need a partner.

At all Hilton hotel openings, Hilton rises before the guests and does a little minuet he learned as a boy in military school.

Now we know why. Opening a hotel is tense stuff. He is dancing it off.

Though medics have given me tranquilizers, I can't say they took the ravels off my ragged nerves. I can pop that stuff like peanuts. Nothing.

A president of General Motors relaxed by walking his dog. Can't remember the president's name — not Charles Wilson, another one. Funny thing is I can remember the dog's name perfectly. Dog named Barney.

Anyway, he walked with the dog. No doubt discussing new models and taxes and sales curves.

It took all the tension out of him. But it just about wore the paws off poor Barney.

"A long rest for you, Barney," said his veterinarian. "And take one of these tranquilizers every three hours."

☆ ☆ ☆

When I am wound up like a bedspring, I play the guitar. "Old Pal, Why Don't You Answer Me?" Sentimental stuff.

I give it little single-string hot licks.

I get as loose as the Siamese cat who simply hangs limp when you pick her up.

As I let go, the family gets tenser by the minute.

They say, "I'm going to have to get out of this house or I'll go out of my mind!"

Lincoln Educational TV Project Lauded

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

A national broadcasting official Tuesday described the Lincoln sponsored Project ASERT work in validating educational television programs as a "very significant effort" for the media as classroom tools.

George L. Hall, associate director of research and development for the National Association of Educational Broadcasters in Washington, D.C., told the Board of Education that the project was one of 18 recently cited as being "truly exemplary in its application of television to the learning process."

He said "the persons responsible for Project ASERT can take a considerable professional pride at being involved in an operational experiment of great intellectual complexity and far-reaching importance to the whole educational profession."

Personal Evaluation

Hall was reporting his findings from a personal evaluation of the federally-funded project, designed to provide supplemental educational resources to Nebraska students through television. Lincoln is the contracting agency for several school districts throughout the state.

Under the direction of Dr. C. Edward Cavert, Project ASERT is attempting to demonstrate the operating techniques and educational advantages of the "closed-loop validation system" which provides for testing educational television programs as effective learning tools in advance of general release.

Educational television programs usually are distributed "without pre-trial as to learning effectiveness," according to Hall.

The evaluator called the experiment a "truly adventuresome enterprise," pointing out that "no other school system in the country has yet undertaken such a difficult and intricate task on so substantive a scale."

However, Hall also told the school board that some "procedural distortions" crept into the demonstration project which became "fundamental flaws in the total procedure."

He recommended several changes in the management and operation of the project, being carried out."

By not keeping the behavioral objectives as the central focus of program production and classroom testing, the results of the testing were not reliable, Hall said. He urged that the "precise design procedures" be enforced by all participating individuals and agencies.

It was also requested that Cavert be given "close operational control over every aspect of the design, production, validation and utilization of every telecast unit attempted."

This recommendation, Hall said, stems from a "management gap" in that the director, "not by choice but rather in the tradition of the way things are done in educational television in Nebraska," turned over details to cooperating agencies. As a result, some plans were not carried through.

In other business Tuesday the board heard personnel director Dr. Carroll Sawin report that the district had about a 14% turnover in the certified staff during 1967-68.

One-fourth of the 195 resignations were attributed to "moving from the city," he reported.

"About 10 teachers" were urged to resign, take a leave of absence or did not receive a contract for the next year, Sawin said.

Transfers Asked

A total of 57 requests for transfer to another school or position were filed. Thirty-two were granted.

From some 989 applications, 228 persons were selected to complete the 1968-69 teaching staff, according to Sawin. Of these, 118 were graduates of the University of Nebraska. The others received their last degree from 69 different schools.

Due to the severe shortage of substitute teachers in industrial arts, math, secondary physical education, foreign languages and special education, Sawin indicated that it might be necessary to have permanent substitute teachers on the staff in the future.

Two houses on the corner of 23rd and Randolph were purchased for $7,500. The purchase includes about 10,000 square feet, reported attorney Willis Hecht.

Outstanding Students Honored

Gateway La Sertoma Club honored three outstanding students and their parents at a dinner Tuesday evening. Presented citations and Savings Bonds for outstanding leadership and community service were Margaret Burkhardt, and Sam Knight, center, both of Northeast High School, and Tom Spitsnogle of Southeast High School. They were selected by a panel of judges. Other nominees were: Jeanne Harris, Southeast; Robert Fitzgerald and Mary Ann Maixner, Pius X; Niesje Steinkruger and Jim Moran, East; and Gary Chesnin and Christine Borgens of Lincoln High. (Star Photo.)

City Urged To Rent Old City Hall For Census

A recommendation that the bottom floor of the old City Hall be rented as the headquarters for the 1970 census will be presented to the City Council by the Mayor's Committee on City Hall Uses.

The committee Tuesday night drafted the recommendation in response to a request from the General Services Administration which asked for 3500 square feet of office space from January, 1970, until September, 1970. The federal agency requested the area rent free or for a nominal fee.

Chairman Larry Enersen suggested that a $2 rental fee be charged for the maintenance of the building. The committee stipulated that the final agreement must not jeopardize the title of the building.

Congressman Robert Denney has introduced a bill to clarify the title of the building.

The committee also discussed the possibility of selling the municipal building, which now houses the police station.

Money from the sale could be used to buy cheaper land outside of town where a probation and correctional facility could be built, the committee speculated.

Action on the issue was tabled until accurate estimates of property value and the possibilities of sale can be discussed with city officials. Estimates of the value of the land vary from $250,000 to $400,000, Enerson said.

The committee members said they would welcome any suggestions from the general public about the buildings.

Humane Society Tells Of Increase In Activity

The Humane Society reported increases in nearly every area of activity at the 62nd annual meeting Tuesday. The society's main problem is paying off a mortgage on the new shelter.

Boyd L. MacDougall was re-elected president. Other officers are vice-president and legal counsel, Richard H. Williams; second vice president, James C. Lewis; secretary, Mrs. John (Rena) Dean; treasurer, Mrs. Stanley (Phyllis) Haight, and chairman of the board of trustees, Wayne L. Packard.

Members of the board of directors are Dr. Ed Ackerman, John F. Boomer, Mrs. Stephen Day, Mrs. Carl Dvoracek, Harold Evans, Bonnie McGlasson and Ed Schwartzkopf.

New Trustees

New members of the board of trustees are Mrs. Kaer Vanice, Richard Duxbury, Robert Camp, Mrs. Byron Dye and Dean Block.

The society had 36,000 more calls and over 9,000 total complaints, an increase in both over 1967.

The number of strays, 2,284, indicates that people are still letting their dogs run loose, Bernard L. Patton, director of the department, said.

Dead Dogs

Also 645 dead dogs were picked up after they had been hit by cars. The total number of dead animals picked up is 1,558.

Claimed dogs amounted to 1,028 and the number of dogs turned in at the shelter was 3,568 (this figure includes dogs brought in from a 100-mile radius).

Injured and sick dogs totaled 432.

Lincoln To Support Urban Renewal Bill

The creation of an urban renewal authority will not require a public vote if city officials are successful in getting legislation approved that would make urban renewal laws uniform for all communities.

Ralph Nelson, corporation counsel for the city, said he will be appearing before an urban affairs committee hearing Wednesday on a bill authorizing cities to create urban renewal authorities limited to a specific project.

Nelson said the bill, like all existing legislation on urban renewal, exempts all cities except Lincoln from having voter approval of urban renewal.

'Treated The Same'

"It is the city's intention to have Lincoln treated the same as all other communities," Nelson said.

He noted that Omaha, a city twice the size of Lincoln, does not require citizens to vote on urban renewal matters.

Nelson said voters have control on urban renewal projects through their election of City Council members.

He said council approval is necessary on projects involving an urban renewal authority, including the acquisition of land.

Limited Authority

The bill before the committee Wednesday would limit an urban renewal authority to only one specific project in a specified area.

Nelson said the authority would be dissolved once action was completed on the project.

"The council would have to decide whether to create the limited urban renewal authority or the general authority — which state laws now permit — in taking action to rehabilitate a certain area," the city's legal advisor said.

A general urban renewal authority is one that exists despite its completion of a project.

In 1962, Lincoln voters rejected the creation of an urban renewal authority in the city.

Electronics Service Group Elects Wilkerson President

George N. Wilkerson Jr., a certified electronic technician (CET), was elected president Tuesday of the Nebraska Electronics Service Association (NESA).

John Sperry, CET, was elected vice president and Garry Zager was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Directors elected were Alvin Suhr, CET; Jake Heidenreich, Les Sabalka, and Charles Enyeart, CET.

Lincoln's newest certified electronic technician, David Morningstar, was recognized at the meeting. A vocational electronics instructor in adult education at Lincoln East High, Morningstar will receive his certificate March 1 at the officer installation meeting.

Members passed a resolution Tuesday to install an antenna at the Capital Home for Retarded Children, located at Lincoln Air Park.

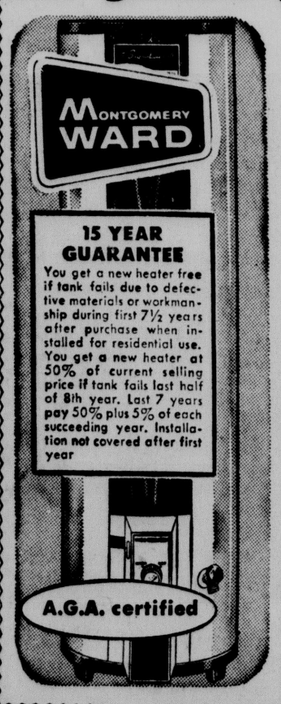

Restaurant Unit Elects Johnson

Lee Johnson was elected president of the Lincoln Restaurant Association at their meeting Tuesday night.

Other officers elected were: J. R. Dietrich, first vice-president; Marie Uher, second vice-president; Merle Reiling, third vice-president; and William Koehne, secretary-treasurer.

The officers will serve a one-year term. Elected for a two-year term on the board of directors were Richard Lutz, W. E. Coatney, Winston Hall, L. C. Price, and J. Robert Scott.

County Signs Pact Forming Office Of Mental Retardation

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday signed an agreement for the formation of the first county office of mental retardation in the state — the Lancaster County Office of Mental Retardation (LOMR).

The agreement, signed by Lancaster County commissioners, the State Health Department and the State Department of Public Institutions, is part of Nebraska's Interlocal Cooperation Act.

Under the agreement, the government of LOMR would be vested in the county, with the executive board of the Capitol Association for Retarded Children serving as the initial administrative board.

The county board's responsibilities include determining the amount of the appropriation for the operation, maintenance and construction or acquisition of facilities, programs and services that shall be borne by the county.

Other funds will come from the state and federal governments and outside sources.

One of the initial projects of the organization will be a long-range plan to provide needed services and programs, according to CARC President Robert Peterson.

Lancaster County Commissioners last year appropriated $15,500 in the 1968-69 county budget for this purpose, but deferred approval Tuesday of the total budget for the remainder of the fiscal year submitted by LOMR Tuesday.

Breakdown of the budget is:

Revenue Sources	Amount
County	$15,500
Federal	10,000
Client Fees
Tuition	13,295
Board	570
Community Chest	5,760
Transportation	1,250
TOTAL	$46,375

County Reaches Agreement On Patients At Tabitha Home

County Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert reported to the Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday that an agreement had been reached with Tabitha Home in connection with increases for care of 26 county patients there.

The home had requested increases averaging about $57.30 per patient, with eleven of the requested increases bringing the total per patient set by the state that may be paid for nursing care for the indigent.

He said that Tabitha had agreed to accept a proposal whereby the county will allow the increases up to the $300 maximum and to allow the maximum of $300 for those patients for whom costs would exceed the $300 ceiling had the requested increase been granted.

He said the agreed-upon increases bring the county's monthly cost up to $7,050 for those 26 patients as compared with $7,600 had the county been able to grant Tabitha's request. Prior to the increases, the county's monthly cost for these patients was $6,110.

Leasing Of Old Hospital Under Study

With an indication from the City of Lincoln that it would lease the old Lincoln General Hospital building to the county for a nursing home, Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday stated they would pursue the situation further.

Commissioner William Grossman said that they would find out the cost and term of such a lease agreement and then consult architects on definite costs of remodeling the old structure to meet state and city standards.

At a meeting last month of county commissioners and city officials, Grossman said that if the City is willing to grant exceptions to its building code to allow a sprinkler system instead of requiring replacement of partitions, then remodeling was estimated to cost roughly between $180,000 and $200,000.

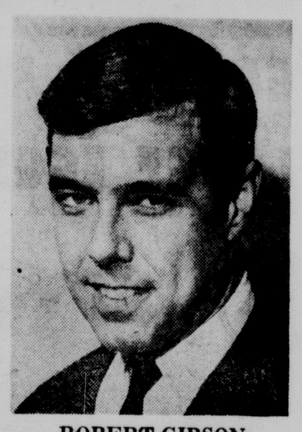

In the letter from Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf to the board, it stated that the Hospital Board has indicated that it would be interested in having the building put to such a use as a nursing home but would not be interested in operating for the county.

It further stated that it could not indicate the hospital's ability or interest in providing food service for an additional 150 patients who could be housed in the old building.

City Building Inspector Charles Seale at the meeting last month said the city building code was not a problem but that the estimate of $180,000 for remodeling did not include use of the kitchen in the old hospital.

Officials at that time agreed that if the hospital were to be utilized as a nursing home then some sort of arrangement for food service would have to be worked out.

The City, in its letter, further stated that it would be conservative in length of any lease agreement.

ROBERT GIBSON

Deputy County Attorney Post To R. Gibson

Lincoln attorney Robert Gibson has been appointed deputy Lancaster County attorney by County Attorney Paul Douglas. He succeeds Walter Waver, who resigned in November to become executive director of the Governor's Crime Commission.

Gibson, 30, who will assume duties Feb. 17, will receive a starting salary of $10,200, approved Tuesday by Lancaster County Commissioners.

Gibson, a 1963 graduate of the University of Chicago College of Law, has been associated with Baylor, Evnen, Baylor, Urbom and Curtiss. Married and the father of one child, Gibson graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1960.

Reinvestment Of $350,000 Okayed By County Board

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday authorized County Treasurer C. E. Berg to reinvest $350,000 in county funds.

Of this amount $250,000 from the county's $2.2 million bond issue for the County-City Building will be invested for 30 days in U.S. Treasury Bills, and the remaining $100,000 in inheritance tax funds will be reinvested for six months in Treasury Bills.

In other business, the board approved the appointment of former Mayor Dean H. Petersen to the Lancaster County Rationing Board.

He was appointed to fill the term held by Byron Dunn, who died recently.

'Numbers Game' Attacked By NU Faculty Senate

Rooms in some University of Nebraska buildings have as many different numbers as there are doors into the rooms, and the Faculty Senate nearly unanimously objects.

With a resounding "aye" and one weak ''nay,'' members of the Faculty Senate Tuesday called on the NU Physical Plant Department to "stop its practice of using door numbers for room identification."

Faculty men and women howled as chemistry Prof. Henry Baumgarten recounted his troubles with rooms having three different numbers — and some having none. The "ridiculous situation," he complained, causes scheduling problems as well as confusing students and instructors.

The Political Science Department took it upon themselves to paint the other door numbers to the same room on each door, he revealed.

The physical plant, asked why each door was being numbered, replied that the practice was started for the convenience of the Job Pool so that a workman sent to oil a hinge or change a lock would know which door to work on, according to Baumgarten.

The professors' resolution proposed that room numbers be the prime means of identification, although doors could be inconspicuously numbered for the convenience of the Job Pool.

Acting Chancellor Merk Hobson asked Baumgarten if he had checked with the Psychology Department to see if the door numbering was an experiment.

'Major Problems'

"We obviously have some major problems here,'' Hobson deadpanned.

Another faculty member asked when the temporary room separators would be replaced with walls in Oldfather Hall...

Oldfather is the newly constructed office-classroom building opened last fall.

Hobson said he had no answer but that the administration recognizes the problems in noise level there.

"I assure you the physical plant is aware of the noise problem," he declared.

NU Faculty Approves Human Rights Panel

A committee to promote and help enforce "legally established and commonly accepted precepts of human rights" in the university community was approved by the University of Nebraska Faculty Senate Tuesday.

Faculty, students and administrators will be equally represented on the six-member group set up to "seek assurances" that all university groups "are able to conduct their respective activities with proper guarantees" of human rights.

The Faculty Senate also passed a "declaration of human rights" calling on the university community to demonstrate by example its concern for human rights at all times.

These human rights "include not only those guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States but also such others which are well recognized by our society and the university as being inherently necessary to the establishment and preservation of personal freedom and equality."

These include the right of each individual "to respect and dignity, to participate in the processes of government, to work for a society free of intolerance or prejudice, to participate fully in the life of the community and to an educational environment that will secure these human rights and promote the unending search for truth."

85 Nebraskans Pass Tests, Are Now Engineers

The Nebraska State Board of Examiners said Tuesday 85 Nebraskans passed examinations administered by the board in December and have been licensed as professional engineers in Nebraska.

Board Secretary Dale. L. Renner said the largest number of successful exams were taken by civil engineers, with 32 of them passing.

He said 16 mechanical engineers passed the tests, as did 12 electrical engineers and 12 structural engineers.

Renner said nine highway engineers passed the tests and that two chemical engineers and two agricultural engineers passed.

Washington (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson has resigned as honorary chairman of the preschool Head Start program for underprivileged children but will devote her free time to the program in Texas, the Office of Economic Opportunity said.

Alvarez Granted Execution Stay

Convicted slayer Thomas Alvarez has been granted a stay of execution until June 3, State Supreme Court records showed Tuesday.

Alvarez, convicted in the 1966 murder of Mrs. E. M. O'Shea of Lincoln, had been slated for execution March 3.

The stay was granted on the defense's showing of post-conviction proceedings still pending in the case. The Lancaster District Court has still to act on a "motion to vacate" filed by Alvarez's attorneys in December.

The motion asks the court for a hearing "on certain things alleged" about the case, and asks permission for Alvarez to withdraw his plea of guilty to first degree murder, one of the attorneys said.

In the alternative, the attorneys asked the court to set aside the death sentence and subsitute for it a sentence of life imprisonment.

Alvarez, who had pleaded guilty under a recent law permitting such pleas in capital cases, had been sentenced to death by Lancaster District Judge Bartlett E. Boyles.

Previously a court trial and a determination of guilt by a jury had been required.

The U.S. Supreme Court last year refused to review the case, and the State Supreme Court had set execution for March 3.

Burkhardt Says He 'Fully Intends' To Finish Term

Dr. Allen P. Burkhardt of Norfolk, president of the State Board of Education, described Tuesday as "absurd and ridiculous'' published speculation that he might be eyeing the position of state education commissioner.

Dr. Floyd Miller currently serves as commissioner.

Said Dr. Burkhardt: "I retired from active professional life Jan. 1, 1968, and though I have had several opportunities in the fields of education and business, I am enjoying my retirement and intend to continue enjoying it. I fully expect to serve my six-year term as state board member—God willing."

Swimming Pool Safety Bill Advances

A bill authorizing the State Health Department to prescribe and enforce sanitary and safety standards for the construction and operation of swimming pools was advanced Tuesday by the Legislature's Public Health and Welfare Committee.

The measure, LB413, introduced by Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, was supported by the Nebraska Public Health Association, Nebraska Committee for Children and Youth and several professional engineers and sanitarians.

Mrs. Orme said the health department has adopted minimum sanitary standards for the operation of public pools, but there's "no teeth in the state law for their enforcement."

Broad Coverage

Both public and private swimming pools, except family residential pools, would be covered by the bill, the committee was told.

T. A. Filipi, state chief of environmental health services, said 80% of Nebraska's 550 municipal and commercial swimming pools are operating satisfactorily.

But, he said, the remainder have been subject to complaints of dirty water, unsanitary facilities and poor safety precautions.

"Four drownings in the past two years were in swimming pools with water so dirty that the lifeguard couldn't see the body," Filipi said.

Spokesman for the bill said the measure would permit uniform enforcement beginning Jan. 1, 1970, of minimum standards for the construction and operation of swimming pools over the state.

Measure Tabled

The committee held for further consideration a bill that would enable the Department of Public Welfare to disregard $7.50 per month of additional social security benefits in determining state assistance payments to old age assistance recipients.

LB285 similarly provides $5 per month for assistance for the blind and disabled.

The measure, which was estimated to cost the state $1.7 million biennially, was supported by the State Advisory Committee for the Aged and the Nebraska Nursing Home Association.

The committee held the bill after lacking sufficient votes to advance or kill the measure.

Douglas County Seeks Aid Of Tiemann In Budget Woes

A delegation of Douglas County officials met Tuesday afternoon with Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann to solicit his aid in pushing through legislation aimed at relieving the county's budget woes.

After the meeting, Tiemann agreed to arrange a meeting with the Douglas County senators and three Unicameral members who have legislation pending that would provide county governments with more money if enacted into law.

The meeting, which will take place next Tuesday at 11 a.m. in the governor's hearing room, is aimed at martialing support for the revenue easing members.

One of the bills, sponsored by state Sen. Elmer Wallwey of Emerson, would have the state assume the financial burden for caring for patients at the Beatrice State Home and the four mental hospitals.

Douglas County Board Chairman George Buglewicz told the governor that Douglas County faces the prospect of operating in the red next year because of the institutional levy tax.

According to figures supplied by Douglas County Budget Director Adrian Jaworski, Douglas County has increased its property taxes 79% in the last five years. At the same time, he said, the county's budget for support of the mental hospitals has risen 26% and for the support of the Beatrice State Home 75%.

Even if planned improvements and projects, such as a city-county building, are curtailed, he said, Douglas County will still need an additional $906,706, or one mill, to operate county government during 1969-70.

In order to avoid going into a deficit, said board member John McCollister of Omaha, the county will have to cut back on highway maintenance and flood control projects.

Civil Liberties Union Opposes Pot Suspension

The Nebraska Civil Liberties Union Tuesday announced its opposition to a bill before the Legislature that would require a 30-day suspension of any college student convicted of possessing marijuana.

NCLU President Charles Stephen said that, should the bill become law, the union would "look for opportunities to challenge in the courts any attempt at its enforcement."

The bill, LB8, was introduced by Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter. The union called the measure "flagrantly unconstitutional."

"The bill would single out one group of persons — students — for more severe consequences than others convicted of the same offense," Stephen said.

He said it would "single out one kind of offense for penalties not validly provided by the criminal law and is an unwarranted intrusion on the rights of educational institutions."

Branch Banking Decision Delayed

The Banking Committee Tuesday postponed until next Monday any decision on whether to allow branch banking or any other extension of current banking offices in Nebraska.

Committee members delayed decisions on two bills dealing with branch banking atfer committee Chairman Richard Proud pointed out the committee will hear another bill dealing with branch banking Monday.

School Aid Change Proposed

Major legislation which would change the basis for distribution of state aid to schools from public school membership to total student census figures was presented to the Legislature Tuesday.

The proposal would require the state to distribute funds to school districts on the basis of total student population in those districts, whether they are enrolled in public or private schools.

Immediate effect of such a change would be to funnel additional funds into school districts which include large parochial school systems. Omaha would be a substantial beneficiary.

The bill, LB1082, was introduced by Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell and co-signed by 11 other senators, including five Omaha lawmakers.

State aid payments based on a $25 million annual program would be limited to 40% of the operating expenses of a school district. That percentage would increase by 1% for each additional million dollars of assistance which might be provided by the Legislature, up to 65%.

Whitney's bill would remove the equalization factor from the state aid program, providing merely for a per pupil grant based on total school census figures.

Another education proposal, LB1058, would require the State Board of Education to survey and evaluate all school districts in the state.

The thorough evaluation would include the condition of all buildings, adequacy of equipment, and quality of personnel.

A number of new tax bills also came flowing into the Legislature.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, who authored LB1058, also signed LB1068, which would tax credit unions at four mills on their gross interest income.

LB1069, another Carpenter bill, proposes a constitutional amendment which would limit the present tax exemption for property owned by agricultural and horticultural societies.

The proposal could affect Ak-Sar-Ben's exemption status.

The exemption, under LB1069, would remain valid only "when such property is not owned or used for financial gain or profit to either the owner or user."

Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln proposed LB1072, which would provide a sales tax exemption for subscription purchases of magazines.

Other new bills would transfer the Home for Children from the jurisdiction of the Department of Public Welfare to the Department of Public Institutions, and increase the maximum city levy for flood control from one to three mills.

Carpenter presented his biennial proposal to regulate the testing and weighing of sugar beets.

Sen. Herb Duis of Gothenburg introduced another proposed constitutional amendment to permit the Legislature to consolidate wholesale power districts into a single public corporation.

Another power bill would redistribute the revenue from in-lieu-of-tax payments by power districts among governmental subdivisions. No funds would go to the state.

Action Delayed On Public Employes Union Bill

By JAMES JOYCE
United Press International

The Nebraska Legislature agreed Tuesday to wait until Wednesday before giving a second floor test to a bill, LB15, which would officially allow public employes to join unions.

The agreement to wait before giving the bill a second floor test came after a motion by the bill's sponsor, State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff. Carpenter moved to delay the action on the bill at the request of State Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr., of Omaha.

Pedersen said he asked to have the bill delayed in order to study it further and to talk with Omaha policemen and firemen and other Omaha officials.

"This bill is aimed directly at my city," said Pedersen. "Before I can vote intelligently on it(I need to talk to the people involved away from the Legislature."

The measure passed its first floor test last Thursday on a 25-11 vote. An earlier motion to kill the bill was defeated 27-12.

Pedersen said he was sure a motion would be made to kill the bill on Wednesday.

"I'm not going to make it myself," he said, "but it's coming."

The Omaha lawmaker said he thought there is "something else" behind the scenes that is urging some lawmakers to support the bill.

"I'm not sure of what it is," he said, "but something is going on.

"It's easy to get something through the Legislature if you throw up a smoke screen of alarm, suspicion and fear," he said.

No Problem

Pedersen said he already has talked to some Omaha policemen and firemen and has been told there is no problem the present government can't handle under present laws. He said he plans to have further discussions before the bill comes up for its second floor test.

"I would like to see some documentation of the strikes and troubles Sen. Carpenter says will occur if we don't pass this bill," he said. "It seems to me there is no problem that our present form of government can't resolve."

Pedersen, who voted in favor of the bill during its first floor test, said one "highly placed" union official told him that although he would like to see the bill passed "there has been no problem the last four years in Omaha.

"This bill is based on speculation and I can't see voting on speculation," he said. "Furthermore, I think it is a discredit to the police and firemen because it suggests they are ready to go out on strike, which I know is not true."

Bill To Extend Sales Tax Exemptions Killed

By Associated Press

A bill to extend the exemptions under Nebraska's state sales tax act has stumbled in the Legislature, and the development hints that other exemption bills may be in jeopardy.

The Unicameral's Revenue Committee Monday killed a bill which would have exempted from sales taxes the feed going into breeding horses and breeding dogs and zoo animals.

It was the first of a string of bills tampering with the sales tax base to be acted upon by the committee, and Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, Revenue Committee chairman, said the decision on the bill "shows the temper of the Revenue Committeee in these areas."

The sales tax act as adopted two years ago was written to provide very few exclusions, but various interests currently are endeavoring to get out from under the tax.

The feed exemption bill, LB187, had been introduced by Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentime and was given its public hearing last month. The exemption for zoo animals was written into the bill as an amendment at the suggestion of Sen. William R. Skarda Jr. of Omaha.

LB187 was one of five bills killed at an executive session of the committee Monday. The others:

—LB40, authorizing registers of deeds to retain three per cent of documentary stamp tax revenue.
—LB41, giving half of revenue from documentary stamp tax to the counties.
—LB158, declaring that taxes which become due on Jan. 1 shall be considered taxes for that calendar year.
—LB401, authorizing tax commissioner to employ assistants to aid county assessors in carrying out their duties.

Six bills previously given hearing were sent to the floor:

LB20, providing new procedures for assessment of property and setting out duties, standards and responsibilities of tax commissioner and county assessors.
LB21, setting qualifications of county assessors and deputies, and requiring examination of them.
LB39, exempting cemetery and mineral deeds from documentary stamp tax.
LB200, clarifying who shall pay the tax upon the transfer of real property.
LB396, revising provisions of law related to taxation of railroad car companies.
LB402, transferring from State Board of Equalization to tax commissioner the duty of levying taxes on air carriers.

Governor Signs Snow Removal Aid Bill

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann Tuesday signed into law the bill appropriating $1 million to help snow-stranded counties to clean off their roads.

The nine senators who introduced the bill, LB758, stood by while the chief executive applied his name to the document.

"The Legislature reacted to an emergency situation in admirable fashion," Tiemann said. "It shows an example of Nebraskans trying to help themselves."

State Adjutant Gen. Lyle Welch reported applications for the funds were being mailed to counties and towns Tuesday, but said it could not be determined at this time how many local subdivisions will apply or will qualify for the funds.

The bill, sponsored chiefly by Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, makes the funds available for renting snow removal equipment once local subdivisions have exceeded certain expenditures requirements.

Burbach commented the situation is "extremely critical, especially in northeast Nebraska."

A request to declare a 42-county area a federal disaster area is in federal hands, but Tiemann said there is "a good possibility" the request will be denied.

74 Little Hoover Measures Are Ready For Introduction

Seventy-four of more than 100 bills implementing recommendations of the Little Hoover Commission are ready for introduction, Commission Director Phillip Gass reported Tuesday.

The finished batch is expected to be thrown into the legislative hopper Wednesday, with the remaining 30 coming in sometime next week.

Forty Lincoln and Omaha law firms took part in drafting the bills free of charge, according to Lincoln attorney and former Sen. Hal Bauer, who was commissioned to coordinate the process.

Gass said he expects some Little Hoover team members to lobby for passage of their recommendations because "they feel keenly enough" about them to do so.

"I plan to spend some time down here myself," he said.

"I believe a lot of the bills will be passed on merits alone," Gass said. "It is very natural some will be opposed. The commission started from scratch on this project and made recommendations on our best business knowledge."

The commission was created by Gov. Norbert Tiemann to make recommendations which would inject sound business practices into the operation of state government.

The group of volunteer businessmen came up with more than 400 recommendations, about 100 of which require legislative implementation. Most others can be handled administratively.

CARMICHAEL

Vote Postponed On School Board Election Measure

The moment of truth for a bill to require all high school districts in the state to have their school boards elected from districts was postponed for two days Tuesday.

The postponement of a vote on the bill was delayed until Thursday because one of its sponsors, State Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha, is snowbound in Boston.

The bill originally would have applied only to the Omaha School District. It was amended in committee to apply to all school districts in the state except for districts which have only grade schools.

Its backers are expected to attempt to amend it back to affecting only Omaha before a vote is taken on the bill itself.

The delay, suggested by State Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha, the bill's chief backer, disappointed a crowd of persons who had driven from Omaha to view the debate and vote on the bill.

Health Board Reports Advances Made In Mosquito Battle

By DAVE ZIMMERMAN
Star Staff Writer

Inroads in the battle against the city's summertime mosquito population were reported Tuesday at a meeting of the Lincoln-Lancaster Health Board.

Officials said that Northeast Lincoln, which harbored large numbers of mosquitoes in 1967, showed a marked decrease last summer due to improvements in drainage.

The trouble spot remains the area of West O where surveillance operations indicated the greatest density.

Ditches Improved

Dr. G. R. Underwood of the City-County Health Department said that improvements made last summer included the modification of drainage ditches in the areas of 17th and Harrison, and the filling in of mosquito breeding areas at Pioneer, Sawyer-Snell, and Belmont Parks. The Burlington Railroad has done considerable grading, filling and draining in West Lincoln which has also aided in the operation, he said.

It was reported that many problems still exist and that further efforts would be made through public information efforts to alert residents of control procedures.

One of the main sources of mosquitoes is from water which is allowed to stand in such things as old tires and empty cans and bottles, Underwood noted.

Other items which came before the board was a continued discussion of milk inspection fees which are contracted with the State Department of Agriculture. The fee, 2.5 cents per hundredweight, is deemed too small by the board because of rising costs and increasing inspection demands from the federal government.

Deficit Incurred

A $10,338 deficit was incurred by the local department in 1968.

Dr. Underwood said that a meeting would be held Thursday in Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf's office between city and State Department of Agriculture officials to discuss revenue increases.

Any increase would require legislation, since a state law set the inspection fee in July, 1961.

The meeting also saw the announcement of Mrs. Margaret Royer to replace retiring supervisor of the nursing division, Mrs. Frieda Hetherington. Mrs. Hetherington is scheduled to retire June 1.

Italian Peninsula Hit Hard By Chill

Rome (AP) — A wave of piercing cold chilled Italy Tuesday from Sicily to the Alps, frosting fountains, freezing lakes and streams and covering much of the southland with snow.

Normally foggy northern Italy was bathed in brilliant sunshine while southern Italy was numbed by snow. Mt. Vesuvius, overlooking the Bay of Naples, was blanketed, as were the hills of Sicily.

Amelia Earhart in 1935 became the first woman to make a solo flight across the Pacific Ocean.

Mitchell Moves To Put Wiretaps Into Action

© New York Times Service

Washington — The Justice Department has moved quickly in the first month of the Nixon administration to begin using court-approved wiretapping against suspected racketeers.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has already authorized federal agents to place several taps in antiracketeering investigations. This was done under the crime control law passed by Congress last June, which requires the agents to obtain court warrants before the listening devices may be installed.

Mitchell announced last month that he would use the new surveillance power, which the Johnson administration refused to employ on the ground that it might create a climate of fear about government eavesdropping.

Planted So Far

The number and types of eavesdropping devices that have been planted so far is not known.

Mitchell is known to have authorized taps in internal security cases as well as antiracketeering investigations, but not in criminal cases that do not involve suspects believed to be crime "syndicate" members.

No listening devices have yet been planted under a provision of the new law that allows federal officials to eavesdrop for up to 48 hours without a court order in emergency situations.

Emergency Taps

The Justice Department is drafting guidelines to regulate the installation of these emergency taps. Mitchell has passed the word that none may be planted without his prior approval.

The attorney general and Nixon discussed the crime problem Tuesday in a White House meeting with the executive committee of the National Association of Attorneys General, which opens its midwinter meeting here Wednesday.

Later it was announced that Mitchell and Arthur J. Sills of New Jersey, the association president, would work out the details of a liaison office to be established in the Justice Department to coordinate federal and state legal activities.

Anti-Mafia Teams

Within the Justice Department, plans are being made to beef up the "strike force" program that has already placed anti-Mafia teams of federal agents in seven areas — Buffalo, Brooklyn, Newark, Philadelphia, Detroit, Miami and Chicago.

Congress will be asked to appropriate additional funds to increase the number of strike forces substantially.

Nixon has recently issued an executive order to all agencies, ordering them to give the Justice Department full cooperation in its anticrime efforts.

16,000 Residents Of State Reported On Food Stamps

More than 16,000 Nebraskans participated in the USDA food stamp program during December, USDA regional officials reported Tuesday.

But Dennis M. Doyle, Midwest director of the program, noted that the state's bonus coupon average was almost 50 cents per person lower than the Midwest average overall.

Doyle said Nebraska participants during December purchased more than $203,000 in coupons and received around $92,000 in bonus coupons, a bonus average of $5.67 per person. The Midwest average was $6.16 per person, however, he said.

By participating in the food stamp program low-income families can buy more food by exchanging the amount of money they normally spend on food for coupons worth more than they paid.

Recipients spend coupons just like cash at authorized retail food stores for any domestic food. They cannot purchase items like household cleansers, tobacco or liquor.

MARK OF EXCELLENCE

Join Oldsmobile's Great 88 Escape. Step into the big-car world without overstepping your budget.

Once you move into 88's big-car world—for no more than the price of the average car—you've got yourself a lot of basic value.

But we don't stop there. We always put extra values into an Olds 88 that keep it way ahead of its price.

Like new guardrails built in the doors for added security.

And a new anti-theft ignition, steering and transmission lock system to help protect your Olds.

A pushbutton ashtray that does nothing—except eliminate a lot of fumbling around while you're driving.

Ditto for a turn-knob glove compartment door.

They're important little things, because they make big things about an 88 that much more enjoyable.

The smoother, softer ride on its new, longer, 124-inch wheelbase.

The quiet, strength and comfort of that roomy, big-car body.

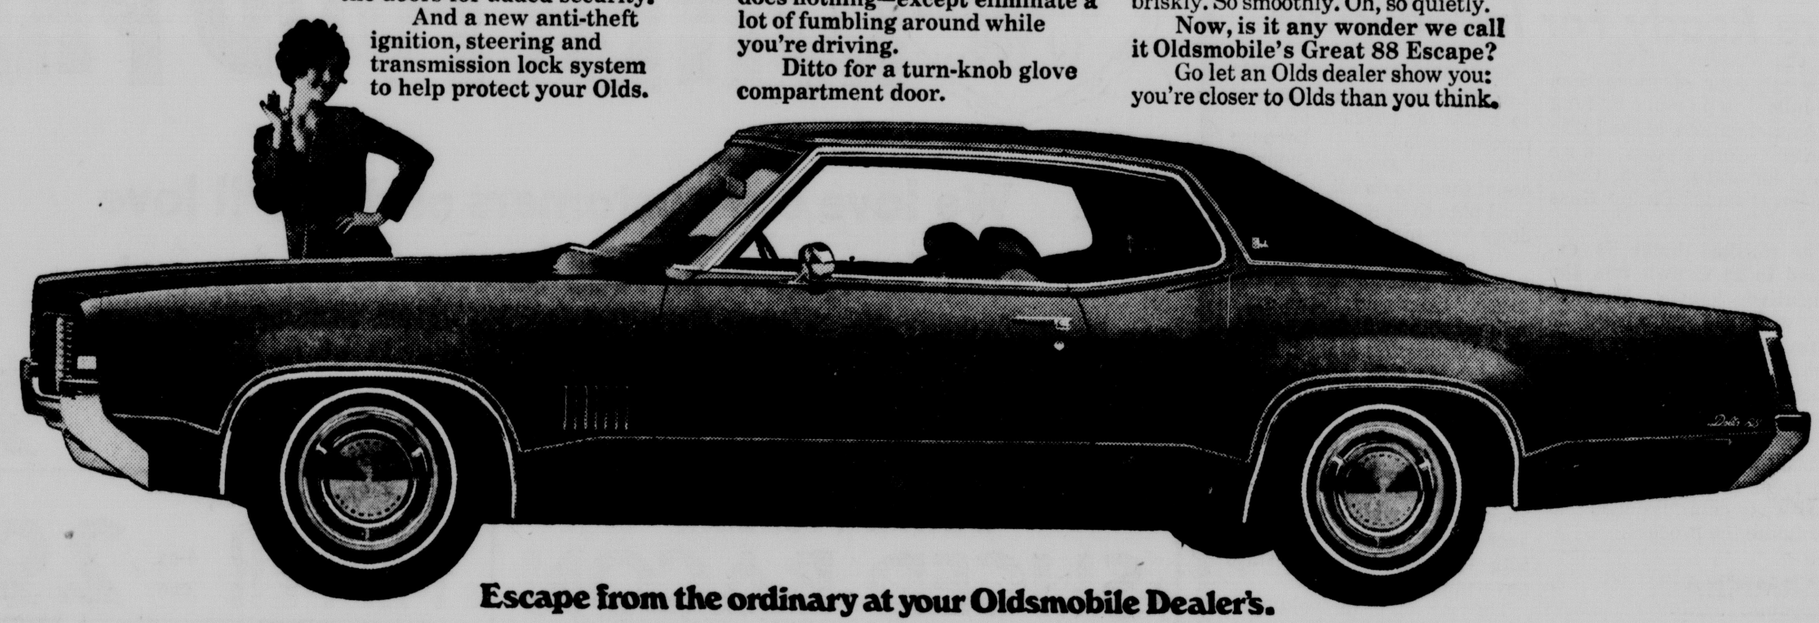

The luxurious interiors, with things like Flo-Thru Ventilation that regulates the airflow without drafts or noise.

OLDSMOBILE YOUNGMOBILE THINKING 1969

And the big Rocket V-8 power that moves you so briskly. So smoothly. Oh, so quietly.

Now, is it any wonder we call it Oldsmobile's Great 88 Escape?

Go let an Olds dealer show you: you're closer to Olds than you think.

IN suburbia

This week we have so much news from our suburban residents, and of such a wide variety, that we can't find a heading broad enough to classify it. Perhaps the many different activities — that range from traveling, to celebrating a birthday — and a birthday anniversary—reflect the diversity of interests that keeps suburbanites so busy.

So, rather than talk around the news, we'll start with Southbrook Summit residents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tavis, who have been popular guests in Lincoln recently. On Saturday evening, Feb. 8, Mr. and Mrs. Tavis joined several other couples at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Luedtke for an evening of bridge.

And earlier this month — on Saturday, Feb. 1, to be exact — Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Heald entertained Mr. and Mrs. Tavis at a small party at their home in honor of Mrs. Tavis' birthday nniversary.

The Southbrook Summit home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Steinacher will be having considerable excitement on Saturday when their son-in-law, Capt. Arthur Kolb, arrives in Lincoln on leave from the army after a two-year tour of duty in Vietnam. Capt. Kolb won't be idle while in Lincoln. He will be assisting Mrs. Kolb and their children, Kirwin, Randy, Kimberly, Kifny, Kelli and Shawn in packing their belongings for the move from Lincoln, where they have been staying while Capt. Kolb was in Vietnam, to Ft. Lewis, Wash., where Capt. Kolb will be stationed.

Leaving their Southbrook Summit home temporarily last Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Carel Stith who accompanied Mrs. Larry Lade to Kearney where they were the house guests of Mrs. Lade's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Deets.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Whitney will be forsaking their Southbrook summer home temporarily on Sunday, Feb. 16, when they go to Syracuse to help Mrs. Whitney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Mueller, observe their 40th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Whitney's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Vard Lawson, also of Lincoln, will be among the celebrators.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Anderson who reside at 701 Eastborough Lane were out and about last Saturday evening. They were entertained at the home of Mr. Burton's mother, Mrs. Harry Ihfe and Mr. Ihfe. The honored guests for the evening were Mrs. Ihfe's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stinehagen of Cozad, who are the hiuse guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ihfe.

A very welcome addition to the 8121 So. Cherrywood home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ripley is their first child, Michael Alan, who arrived on Friday, Jan. 31. Happy, indeed, to welcome the newest member into the family are young Michael's maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Sheldon, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ripley, all of Lincoln.

Let it never be said that the residents of suburbia will let any contrary weather ruin their holiday celebrations, even if they have to wait until almost Valentine's Day to complete all their Christmas festivities. On Sunday, Feb. 9, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Rutt and their children drove to David City from their Maple Village home to have a long delayed Christmas get-together with Mrs. Rutt's parents, Dr. and Mrs. O. E. Pfeifer.

Opening lead — king of clubs.

One of the first things a bridge player learns is how to finesse, and one of the last things he learns is how to avoid a finesse.

Let's say West leads three rounds of clubs and declarer ruffs the third one. When he crosses to dummy with a spade and leads a heart to the queen, the finesse loses to the king. South must later go down one because another trump loser is inevitable.

But South can make the hand if he bypasses the finesse. Thus, if he elects to play the ace and a low heart, West must win with the king and South's queen later picks up East's jack to produce ten tricks.

This method of play is easy enough to see with all 52 cards exposed. The question is whether South can reasonably adopt this line of play without seeing the opponents' cards.

The answer lies in the bidding. It is standard practice for a player with 6 or more points to respond to his partner's opening bid of one in a suit. This is necessary in order to protect those hands where the opening bidder may have as many as 20 or 21 points.

There is no good reason for declarer to think that East violated the rule in this deal when he passed West's opening bid.

When East shows up with the Q-J-10 of clubs on the first three plays, declarer must assume that he cannot have the king of hearts or he would not pass.

Once West is granted the king of hearts, it cannot be right to finesse the queen. Nothing can be gained, but much might be lost, by taking a finesse.

If West has three hearts to the king, the contract cannot be made. Declarer should therefore play for the only possibility that gives him a chance to make the hand. He should play West for specifically the king and another heart.

ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I get sick right up to here when I hear someone pleading with us girls to be gentle with the boys in the service and above all, "NO DEAR JOHN LETTERS!"

Abby, what about the "DEAR MARY" letters WE get? Is it any easier for us to sit home for months on end, refusing dates, writing letters every day, and having nightmares when we don't get any mail for weeks. And then like a bolt out of the blue, a letter finally comes, which starts, "Dear Mary, by the time you get this I will be married—."

At this moment I can rattle off the names of 10 girls who have had this happen to them. And I head the list.

I am sick of hearing that "You're safe at home" excuse. I'm "safe at home" all right. My skunk saw to that.

(ANOTHER) DEAR MARY

DEAR ABBY: Someone ought to tell that Battalion Chaplain in Vietnam to go soak his head. (He said that girls with guys in the service should NOT write Dear John Letters.)

I imagine they aren't the greatest letters in the world to receive, but consider the alternative: Either the sweet young thing keeps writing fake love letters telling him that all is well and she will be waiting for him, or she just quits writing.

The latter happened to me, and when you're expecting a letter every day and don't get it, it's like getting a "Dear John" letter every day. When a guy gets a "Dear John," at least he knows what happened. (Sign me)

"DUMPED"

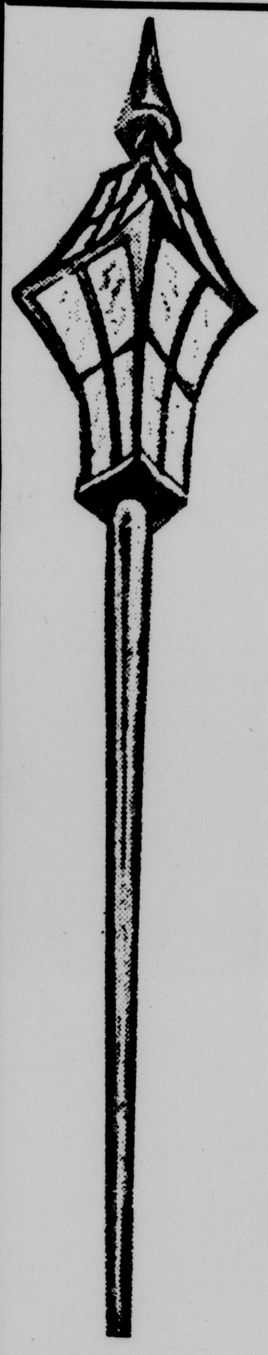

DEAR ABBY: Don't anybody talk to me about those "DEAR JOHN" letters that break a man's spirit when he's over there fighting for love, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. I've got a story of my own to tell.

My "John" went to Vietnam, and when he kissed me good-bye his father had to hold him up because he was so shook he was about to faint. Eleven months later I got a letter asking me for a DIVORCE! It seems he met somebody over there. I won't go into any of the details here, but she "worked" close to him and it was "just one of those things."

I couldn't believe it, but after running up a $600 telephone bill (I didn't talk much but I sure cried a lot) I finally realized he meant it, so I talked to a lawyer and that was that.

I think my "John" could have waited to hit me with that kind of news when he got home, but he didn't. So you see, Dear Abby, there are always two sides to every coin.

Fashion News

In case you hadn't heard — the haute couture is out in full force in Paris. The top-most designers are showing costumes for spring and summer which easily could stagger the imagination.

Among those who are represented in the Paris fashion showings is Yves Saint Laurent who does elaborate and unusual things with dresses and a variety of other costumes.

Laurent, however, can be most sedate.

Pictured above is a beige culotte suit made of gabardine, and worn with a round straw hat.

Bridal Showers

A bridal courtesy on Monday evening honored spring bride-elect, Miss Barbara Hernbloom, who has chosen March 8, as the date for her marriage to Darryl L. Novak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Novak of Dorchester.

Entertaining for the bride-to-be were Miss Myla Bumann, Miss Jolene Luethje, Miss Marla Novak and Miss Connie Pollock, who were hostesses to a group of guests at the home of Miss Bumann and Miss Luethje. During the informal evening, a personal shower was presented to Miss Hernbloom.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hernbloom of Shelby, the bride-elect has announced that the wedding will take place at an 8 o'clock evening service, to be solemnized at the United Methodist Church in Shelby.

Miss Myla Bumann will attend Miss Hernbloom as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Judy Hernbloom, sister of the bride-to-be, and her fiance's sister, Miss Marla Novak.

Ronald Pohlmann of Cordova will serve Mr. Novak as best man, and seating the guests will be David White of Shelby, and Raymond Rezabek, Dorchester. The groomsmen will be Mr. Novak's brother, Dean Novak, and Gary Hernbloom, brother of the bride-elect.

Winter Wedding

The candlelighted chancel of the First Presbyterian Church at Minden was appointed with white carnations and greenery for the marriage of Miss Patricia Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley E. Cole of Minden, to Gerald Ford Pierce, son of Dr. and Mrs. Alson F. Pierce of Colorado Springs, Colo., on Saturday Jan. 4.

The matron of honor and brde's only attendant was Mrs. William Woodard of San Diego, Calif., who wore a slim, floor-length frock of green silk moire. She carried a nosegay of white roses and stephanotis.

Serving Mr. Pierce as best man was F. Leslie Baird, Colorado Springs, and seating the guests were Phillip Pierce, Colorado Springs, brother of the bridegroom; Jon Cole, Kearney; and Michael Fitz, Gering.

The bride's gown of white, re-embroidered Alencon lace was designed in the princess silhouette. A high throatline and long, fitted sleeves accented the slender gown, which was complemented by a chapel train of the lace, and her train-length veil of illusion was held by a Dior bow of the lace. She carried a bouquet of red roses, camellia foliage and gypsophila.

A former student at Queen's College, Oxford, England, the bride is a senior at Colorado College. Mr. Pierce, who has attended Hastings College, recently returned from duty in Vietnam, and is completing army service at Ft. Sill, Okla.

The Harkness Ballet

BY CLIVE BARNES
(c) New York Times Service

New York — One of the most remarkable aspects of the Harkness Ballet is that it has mounted over 50 ballets since its first public performances in Cannes nearly four years ago — a record probably no dance company in the world could match. For all that, only 16 works are being shown during its current three-week season at the Music Box in New York and, of these, only about half were originally created for the company.

Lawrence Rhodes, one of the dancers, who is only 29 and, strangely perhaps, not a choreographer, recently became the company's artistic director.

It is almost impossible to evaluate his directing performance so early. Most of the repertory he has inherited. One of his first acts as director was to commission, sensibly enough, a series of revivals — four of which are at the Music Box — and to invite a number of young choreographers to prepare works for the company during its summer residency in Monte Carlo. Only one of these, John Neumeier's "Stages and Reflections," has survived for the City, yet Rhodes's principle is a good one.

It is the oft-quoted boast of George Balanchine that you can go to any performance of New York City Ballet, close your eyes and enjoy a good concert. You certainly cannot do that at the Harkness Ballet: the music is usually all too mushy. Significantly enough, while the company has a conductor and a guest conductor, it does not have a musical director.

For a young and developing company, a man who really understands music and dance — a conductor with what I might call a choreographic insight — is of enormous value.

When I first saw the company in Cannes I was most impressed by a sextet of dazzling dancers — Lone Isaksen, Elisabeth Rhodes, Helgi Tomasson and Finis Jhung. At that time I think they were all termed soloists, but they soon became the company's principal dancers; so they remain. They are an outstandingly gifted bunch and have, of course, improved over the years. Rhodes — a remarkable dramatic dancer — is also a beautiful classic stylist, but he must guard against an increasing tendency to drop his head forward in a manner that spoils his classic line.

And I notice, with a pleasure at least as social as artistic, that the Harkness Ballet is integrated. Three boys and, rarer still, one girl, are black, and there are a couple of Asians. I take this as a very proper sign of the times, but it is gratifying to see that non-caucasian dancers are getting more and more chances in classic ballet.

Dancers are one thing; ballet, the artistic entity, is something else again. Rhodes has a fine, well-disciplined troupe of dancers, but the repertory still looks thin. Not many of those 50 ballets the company has mounted are worthy of survival, and the problem of building up the repertory, both choreographically and musically, is a crucial one. Perhaps a few modern classics would help. Would it be impossible, for example, to get some Balanchine or Tudor? Or perhaps even some Bournonville — the company, I recall, used to dance the divertissement from "Napoli."

That Rhodes is not a choreographer may work to his advantage, for it gives him the opportunity to build up a very diversified reportory.

BOOKS—new French revolution

BY ROGER JELLINEK
(c) New York Times Service
THE NEW FRENCH REVOLUTION
—by JOHN ARDAGH

The spontaneous uprising in France last May, with its equally sudden deflation, must stand as one of the least orthodox happenings in revolutionary history.

It is John Ardagh's contention in "The New French Revolution" that despite the theories of Daniel Cohn-Bendit the events of May were not, in the traditional sense, political at all. His encyclopedic book is the work of a dozen years of observation in France. It's an occupational hazard for books of this kind that they are overtaken by events, and Ardagh completed this one before last May (a chapter has been added to interpret the uprising), yet that crisis only provides a conclusive illustration for his findings.

For most of us contemporary France means an intransigent De Gaulle, a hostile Paris, a jet-set Riviera, and maybe a fleeting memory of Jean-Claude Killy at Grenoble. Ardah deliberately does not write about De Gaulle or French politics; beneath the froth of French political rhetoric he hears the bubbling effervescence of a stronger brew — le Plan.

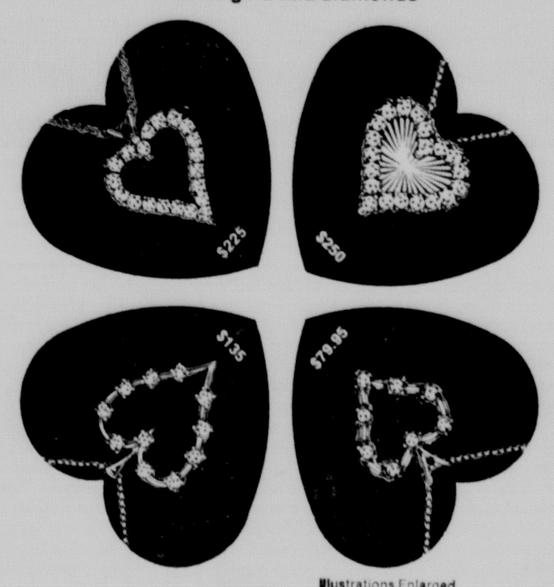

This vuluntary association of government and industry and, to a limited extent, the trade unions, has been deciding the priorities for the French economy since Jean Monnet set it up in 1945. Some 50 per cent of French investment is controlled by the state.

Young farmers have organized and demanded government help in modernizing agriculture. Campaigns are being fought against the corrupt and chaotic marketing system. The 90 departments have for planning purposes been collected into 21 regions, and a start has been made on reshaping and decentralizing the educational system.

Separately, these are dry subjects, though Ardagh makes agreeable reading of them with anecdotes of local battles, apt quotations and his own confidently thoughtful opinions.

Trying Bigger Lifting Job

Paul Anderson, the world's strongest man, has lifted a record 6,270 pounds, but now the man with the 60-inch chest is trying an even bigger lifting job—the job of lifting the actions of what he calls "the 85% of our youth who are good citizens above the actions of the 15% "who are hippies, yippies and smokers of pot."

Anderson was in Lincoln Tuesday carrying his campaign to school assemblies at Lincoln High and Lincoln Northeast and to a large crowd at the YMCA Membership Dinner Tuesday night.

PAUL ANDERSON

"I got interested in doing this because I saw the influence that athletes can have on people," says the 1956 Olympic Gold Medal winner. "Every morning, 85% of the people who pick up the paper turn to the sports page first.

"Athletes are always before the public because they're playing in things like the Super Bowl and as an athlete I decided to use that advantage to try to help our young people."

"I try to emphasize Godliness and patriotism. Patriotism seems to be something we haven't emphasized enough as illustrated by the fact we have some young people who refuse to put on the uniform of our country.

"I also try to impress upon the young people that they will soon be parents and that every time they now embrace the new morality, they're tearing down the society in which their children will be raised in."

Wrong Ones Being Heard

Anderson points his finger which is at the end of an arm that measures 24 inches around at what he calls the real core of the problem with our youth today.

"The real problem is that the 85% of our youth, who are very good people, aren't being heard," he notes. "The ones who are getting all the attention, unfortunately, are the 15%, who are hippies, yippies and smokers of pot.

"Why should these people present the image for the entire generation? It's time we started giving some attention to and hearing from that 85% who are not in the hippie, yippie, pot-smoking category."

The 370-pound Anderson lays some of the blame on parents and their failure to make their youngsters respect authority at home.

"As I travel and visit these young adults, I find that two of the things that concern them is that their parents tell them one thing, yet do another thing themselves," he explains, "And that many of these young adults wish their parents would say no to them once in awhile.

"I think all parents want their children to have things better than they had them. And this may be wrong because the children don't appreciate it."

Appreciation In Ghettos

"When I speak to people living in ghettos, I often talk to them about appreciation," he says. "Now, you ask me how children living in ghettos could appreciate anything.

"What we have in this country, even in our ghettos, is much better than I've seen in many countries I've visited. Unfortunately, few people get to travel enough to see the conditions elsewhere in the world.

"If they could, they'd appreciate this country of ours a great deal more."

Looking toward Pete Peterson, a former Lincoln policeman, Anderson turned to his thoughts on the lack of respect for authority today.

"I understand Pete was a policeman," he began, "and I can remember when I was a youngster, I used to ride my tricycle up to the corner to visit with the policeman on my block because he was my friend."

"A policeman is no longer thought of as a friend by many of our young people today and this is because he represents authority.

"Youngsters who don't learn to respect authority at home aren't going to respect it when it comes in the form of a policeman or a school administrator.

"And if you don't respect authority, then you're not going to have self respect and the person without self respect is dangerous."

But the man with the 60-inch chest, 50-inch waist, 24-inch neck and 24-inch upper arms keeps going back to the 85% who do respect authority, do believe and respect their country and are solid citizens.

"What we've got to do is get those 85% to making more noise and getting more attention than the 15% who are hippies, yippies and smokers of pot," he emphasizes.

NU Quality Seekers Sign Butts, Austin

Quality was the early highlight of phase one of Nebraska's football recruiting push Tuesday.

Among the first to affix his signature to a Big Eight letter of intent to attend Nebraska was Grand Island's Randy Butts, considered by many to be the state's top collegiate prospect.

Signing a Big Eight letter commits an athlete to a specific school in the conference. The second phase is the national letter of intent signing on May 21. Before that time an athlete could presumably have signed letters of intent in several conferences.

Butts, 6-1 and 190 pounds, is a top prospect in two sports, football and track. The big halfback was a double gold medal winner in last year's state track meet, winning the high hurdles in :14.0 and the lows in :19.4.

"He's as good a hurdler as you'll find in the country," observes Cornhusker track coach Frank Sevigne.

Butts was signed by football coach and athletic director Bob Devaney.

"We'll try him on both offense and defense," said Devaney, "but he'll eventually play one or the other.

"With his speed and size it's hard to see how he can fail to help our program. We're going to need speed in our offensive backfield. We'll lose our two fastest backs — Joe Orduna and Mike Green — after next season. There's no outstanding speed other than these two and there is just no substitute for speed," said Devaney.

Regarding the scholarship, Devaney said "it's for football, but track coach Frank Sevigne is interested in him for track. Randy has his choice of either or both."

Only one other Nebraska high schooler, Orduna, has been credited with a :14.0 flight of high hurdles.

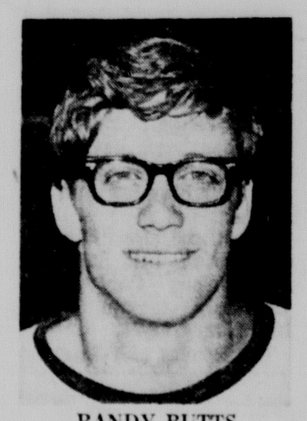

Also signing early Tuesday morning was Lincoln Southeast's Alan Austin, a 6-5, 195-pound lineman.

Early out-of-state signees included Frank McKinley, a 6-4, 233-pound tackle from Kansas City, and Charles Harris, a 6-0, 185-pound back from Kansas City.

Two athletes from Columbus joined the list of early signers. They were Joe Blahak, a back from Columbus Scotus, and Tom Deyke, a tackle from Columbus High.

Husker coaches signed three ends and a back from Omaha high schools Tuesday afternoon.

Signing letters-of-intent were ends Robert Schmitt of Boys Town, Doug Johnson of Benson, Robert Wolfe of South and back John Howell of Cathedral.

MISSOURI CRACKS HUSKERS

Tigers Gain Revenge In 79-60 Rout Of NU

. . . 13-STRAIGHT POINT BURST DOES IT

Columbia, Mo (AP) — Missouri exploded for 13 points without retaliation in a span of two minutes, 19 seconds late in the game and romped to a 79-60 Big Eight basketball victory over Nebraska Tuesday night.

The Tigers, fourth in the conference with a 4-4 record and 11-8 over-all, led 61-49 with 5:23 remaining.

Doug Johnson, the game's leading scorer with 24 points, then ignited the rapid run of Tiger points with a three-point play. Theo Franks added three more baskets and Tom Thoenen and Pete Helmbock one each until Missouri had a 74-51 bulge with 3:04 to go.

Missouri's tough defense held Nebraska to 18 shots in the second half, and the Tigers dominated the rebounding, 36-23. For the game, the Tigers hit 30 of 55 shots and Nebraska 15 of 45.

Johnson, a Marine veteran playing his first collegiate ball, hit nine of 10 field shots and six of six free throws while grabbing five rebounds in his best performance.

Bob Gratopp, with 17, was the only player in double figures for Nebraska, now 2-6 in the Big Eight and 9-11 overall.

Missouri's defense was so tough the second half that it forced the Cornhuskers into 14 turnovers during that time and held the Nebraskans to only three buckets in the first 19 minutes after intermission and only five buckets the entire second half.

The defense, Missouri rebounding off the offensive boards and David Pike's ball-handling against the Husker press all helped the Tigers avenge two earlier defeats this year.

The closest that Nebraska came the second half was to within 44-39 after the Tigers went to the dressing room with a 35-30 halftime margin.

But at that point, Missouri hit seven straight markers to expand its lead to 51-39 with just under 11 minutes remaining and the Huskers were never within 10 afterwards.

Vols Find One Way To Slow 'Pistol Pete'

Knoxville Tenn. (AP) — Pete Maravich, Louisiana State's basketball phenom, has scored a total of 59 points in three games against Tennessee. That's only 17 more than Pete's average per game.

How does Tennessee stop Pete, who scored 66 points against Tulane Monday night. "We do it with a Chinese defense," says Tennessee coach Ray Mears.

A Chinese defense, Mears explains, is simply a combination of zone and man-to-man defenses.

"I didn't originate it," Mears says. "It is terminology that has been used a long time for the combination of zone and man-to-man defenses."

Tennessee normally employs what Mears calls a 1-3-1 trap zone defense.

Mears decided the 1-3-1 wasn't enough to stop Maravich, who set a national collegiate scoring record last year with a 43.8 season average and is averaging more than 42 points a game this season. Hence the Chinese defense.

Mears assigned Bill Hann, 6-foot-3 senior from Cleveland, Ohio, to play Pistol Pete man-to-man. The other four Volunteers stayed in their normal defensive areas.

"Hann is an excellent defensive player," Mears says. "He has quick hands and his chief job is to try to keep Pete from getting the ball.

"If Pete gets the ball, Hann tries to make his take a bad shot. If he gets it in one of our zone areas, we have double coverage on him."

The result: Maravich scored 17 points the first time he ran into this defense a year ago. In two succeeding games against Tennessee, he got 21 each time.

"We set up this defense for Maravich on the theory you've got to stop a team's strength before you can beat it," Mears explains. "Pistol Pete is certainly the strong point of the LSU team.

"He is one of the finest offensive basketball players I've ever seen. He's the complete player. We have tremendous respect for him."

Maravich usually takes about 40 shots a game from the floor. But when Tennessee met LSU at Baton Rouge last month, Pistol Pete fired only 18 times, hitting eight. He added five more points from the foul line for 21 — his low for the season.

With Hann himself scoring 21 points, 17 above his average, the Vols beat the Tigers 83-68.

After the game Pistol Pete told Hann: "It looks like I can't score against you."

Pete will get another chance against Hann and the Vols' Chinese defense here Feb. 24.

Berigan Resigns

Omaha — The Omaha Mustangs will have a new head coach in 1969.

Bernie Berigan, coach for the past five seasons, has resigned to devote more time to other work.

The Continental Football League club will seek a full-time coach.

Husker Frosh Seek Revenge

Nebraska's freshman basketball team bids to avenge one of its two losses of the season Wednesday night when it meets McCook Junior College in McCook.

The NU frosh, playing without No. 2 scorer Al Nissen, dropped their season opener to the McCook club by a one-point margin in December.

Coach Bill Harrell's quintet takes a 5-2 season record into the contest after a loss Saturday at Kansas State.

Chisox Offer Boycott Test

Chicago (AP) — The Chicago White Sox, opening baseball training camp at Sarasota, Fla., Friday — a week ahead of all other major league clubs — will provide the first boycott test of the players-owners pension squabble.

Pitchers and catchers are to report by midnight Thursday at the Sarasota base and start workouts the next morning.

The one week head start is because the Sox are scheduled for a Mexico City goodwill tour March 2-5 and manager Al Lopez insists on having his pitchers ready for games there.

But the trip may have to be canceled.

"Saturday is the last day to make a decision on whether or not to go to Mexico City," said Sox owner Art Allyn. "If a pension agreement isn't reached by then, we'll have to cancel."

Vice president Ed Short, however, said the Sox could take a patchwork team to Mexico City.

"Our original contract called for us to play our first-line players down there," said Short. "But I have asked them if they would take whatever we could come up with if the strike goes on. I haven't had any replies to my telegrams yet."

Short said he was hopeful there will be a breakthrough by Feb. 20, when the full squad is due in camp.

"However, we have a number of players under contract, and that list includes a number of veterans," said Short. "I don't want to list any names because I don't want to embarrass anyone."

It virtually is certain that all the Sox rookies, who are not yet members of the Players Association, will show up at Sarasota. These include pitchers Mickey Abarbanel, Paul Edmondson, Danny Lazar, Jim Magnusson, Dennis O'Toole, Fred Rath, Sonny Secrist and Mickey Vandehey.

Western Quintet Rips North Platte

North Platte (AP) — Nebraska Western and North Platte Junior College cagers each pumped in 53 points in the second half here Tuesday night but North Platte could not erase a 58-33 halftime deficit, falling to the Scottsbluff squad, 111-86.

GEORGE SAUER

Pats' GM Post Goes To Sauer

Boston (AP) — George Sauer Sr., a 1933 All-American fullback at Nebraska, was named general manager of the Boston Patriots of the American Football League Tuesday.

The announcement was made by William H. Sullivan Jr., president of the Patriots.

Sauer, 56, has been director of player personnel for the world champion New York Jets for the last six years.

Sauer replaces Mike Holovak, who was fired as head coach and general manager a month ago.

The strongest recommendation of Sauer was made by the new head coach, Clive Rush, who preceded the new general manager from the Jets to the Patriots by two weeks.

After leaving Nebraska Sauer played three years with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

He coached at New Hampshire, Kansas, Navy and Baylor.

Wolbach Key In 'D' Shakeup

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

One major shakeup highlights this week's Class D high school basketball ratings, although Elmwood and Sterling continue unmolested in the No. 1 and 2 positions in the ratings.

Wolbach was heavily involved in the big change. The Mustangs had come into the top ten four weeks ago. They were No. 7. A couple of wins later they moved up to fifth, then finally to third. But a stunning upset by an unranked team had tumbled them off the list.

Wanting to prove they rightfully belonged on that list, coach Jim Marco's Wolbach quintet went out and won three straight games to capture the Central Nebraska Conference tourney title last week. In doing so, they knocked off eighth-rated Callaway.

The next night Callaway completed the triangle Wolbach was looking for by beating Lexington St. Ann, the No. 3 team. The Callaway victory was a convincing one, coming on Lex's home court.

Loomis and Clarks gain a notch in the change. Gresham loses ground in order to make room for the trio. Spalding Academy remains No. 9, while Cedar Bluffs is a newcomer after beating, and replacing, Yutan.

Novak Leads East Butler Upset

. . . PLAYER OF WEEK ON 22 REBOUNDS, 19 POINTS AGAINST STROMSBURG

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Coach Paul Heller's East Butler High basketball team has been having its troubles this winter. The wins have been few and far between.

But all the effort became worth while last Saturday night when they upset previously top-ten rated Stromsburg, 73-71.

The heroics of 6-3 senior Jerry Novak over the weekend earned the Tiger star Player of the Week honors.

Against a taller Central team on Friday night, Novak hauled down 22 rebounds and scored 19 points in a losing cause, but then in the Stromsburg upset, the rugged East Butler upped his point production to 22 points to provide the difference.

The battle was tied with six seconds remaining when Novak canned the winning bucket to climax his weekend's work.

Though coach Heller says Novak's major sport is football, he admits he wouldn't want to be tackling the present hoop schedule without his backboard and scoring ace.

Others who deserve special recognition after their weekend play include:

Wayne Wilson, Elba — With 13 baskets and 10 of 13 from the free throw line, Wilson's 36 points made it an easy night in a 88-38 win over Spalding.

Ken Bator, Columbus Scotus — After winning but two games in the first 11 outings, Bator led the Shamrock's to their second straight triumph with 19 points against Osceola.

Warren Porter, Chester — Banged in 15 points in the second half alone to push his club past Pioneer Conference tourney champion Bruning, 49-39.

Kenny Keeler, Culbertson — Just a sophomore, Keeler came up with a 30-point night in leading the Bears to a high-scoring 100-86 victory over Haigler.

Marvin Schliep, Sandy Creek — A 6-1 forward who ignited his team past favored Sutton with a big fourth quarter output, which included 11 of 13 from the freethrow line, the last nine in a row. Scored 21 points in the 49-47 victory.

Two substitutions have been made on the Southeast District Golden Gloves team headed for Omaha Friday and Saturday for the Midwest Golden Gloves at the Omaha Civic Auditorium.

The two new members of the team being handled by Larry Emery are his son, Doug, at 119 pounds and heavyweight Frank Quinn.

Emery replaces Dale Strough, who decisioned him in the finals of the Southeast District Tournament, but was later suspended because he had not yet reached the 16 minimum age.

Quinn is filling in for Dom Palifrone, the University of Nebraska at Omaha football player who suffered a broken hand in his semifinal fight with Quinn.

Two other Southeast District champions have dropped from the team. Jim Ahlstedt, who was uncontested at 132 pounds, has not reported for workouts since the Southeast District Tournament. Steve Smith had to quit because of a job conflict.

Dave Oldfield, who won at 125, has moved up to 132, filling that gap, but the Lincoln team will have no fighter in the 125 or 165-pound divisions.

The Lincoln team will consist of Mike Cline at 112, Emery at 119, Oldfield at 132, Ed Jenkins at 139, Tony Drake at 147, Russ Blank at 156, Gene Trouba at 178 and Quinn as the heavyweight.

Preliminaries are set for 7:30 p.m. Friday with semifinals and finals scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Patrick Suffers Broken Left Arm

Nebraska's spring football practice might start a little later this year . . . just to insure that there will be some quarterbacks on hand.

Veteran Frank Patrick was added to the disabled list over the weekend when he broke his left arm in a basketball mishap.

The 6-7 senior was injured in a fast break pileup when he was pushed into a wall. It is expected he'll have his arm in a cast for a month.

Earlier, freshman candidate Van Brownson had suffered a broken bone in his foot in a physical education class.

Beatrice Jaycee Honors To Cook, Mrs. Kassing, Legion Drill Team

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Beatrice — Following in the footsteps of his father by exactly 30 years, William W. Cook Jr. received the Jaycee Distinguished Service Award here Tuesday night at Beatrice's annual Chamber of Commerce banquet.

W. W. Cook Sr. had been the first recipient of the award — and was among the 470 persons present for the 1969 presentation. Also sharing honors were Mrs. Margaret Kassing, outstanding women's division member, and a 20-man American Legion drill team chosen for the Good Neighbor Award.

The tributes highlighted the annual meeting of members and wives which also marks the start of a new chamber year. President-elect Dick Hovendick officially took over the organization from Leigh Coffin.

Guest speaker George Nigh, Oklahoma lieutenant-governor keynoting on humor, inserted a serious challenge to "be willing to change with this fast-moving world."

"The good old days aren't yesterday but tomorrow," declared the young statesman. "Remember that the time we live in is a new day."

The selection of Cook, who recently assumed the Beatrice National Bank presidency, was based on numerous civic activities top-heavy in Jaycee work. He has also headed several charitable fund drives and is a leader is Masonic, Shrine and church work.

A 1960 graduate of the University of Nebraska, he has since been associated with the bank in various capacities. He is married and has two children.

Mrs. Kassing, a former teacher now associated with radio station KWBE, has been especially active in extension projects. She has served the past year as chairman of the Chamber Women's Division.

Pat Sullivan, commander of the drill team of Legion Post No. 27, accepted the Good Neighbor Award on behalf of his group. Among contributions noted were two fund drives the unit spearheaded by marching specified distances for contributions.

Jack White, president of the Beatrice Development Corp., briefly reviewed business progress and several industrial expansions of the community. Mel Mains of Lincoln, a television announcer and a Gage County native, served as toastmaster.

WEYAND . . . military adviser in Paris.

Lt. Gen. Weyand Named Adviser To Paris Talks

Washington (UPI) — President Nixon Tuesday named Army Lt. Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, a decorated veteran of the Vietnam war, to be chief U.S. military adviser at the Paris peace talks.

Weyand will represent the Joint Chiefs of Staff and advise U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. negotiator, on military matters. The position is a new one created by Nixon.

In Vietnam, Weyand commanded the U.S. 25th Infantry Division which defended the northwest quadrant of Saigon during the Communist Tet offensive last January and February.

Oil Slick Nears Harbor

Santa Barbara, Calif. (AP) — Apparently re-forming, sections of the once-vast Santa Barbara Channel oil slick threatened the small boat harbor at Oxnard, some 30 miles southeast, Tuesday.

Cleanup efforts continued in the harbor here and along 30 miles of Pacific Ocean beaches.

The Coast Guard, after an aerial survey, said the slick was quite heavy and extensive about a mile offshore in some areas.

This was a reversal of Monday's report that most of the slick seemed to have broken up and washed ashore.

A Coast Guard spokesman said it appeared that winds and waves had washed some oil off the beaches, enabling the slick to re-form.

At Oxnard, the Channel Islands Harbor was closed to all ships because of the threat from the slick.

Seize Literature

Burning Of Secret Papers Lasted Only 10-15 Minutes

New York Times Service

Coronado, Calif. — The burning of the Pueblo's secret papers lasted only 10 to 15 minutes in the intelligence quarter of the ship, a crewman has told the court of inquiry here.

At the same time, the crewman, Senior Communications Technician James R. Kell, testified that he never heard an order to burn documents from Lt. Stephen R. Harris, the chief intelligence officer on the Pueblo.

The crewman said he himself gave the order to start burning and scuttling papers in the intelligence, area of the Pueblo.

Kell made his comments Monday before a heavily guarded closed session of the court of inquiry. Portions of the hearing were released Tuesday by the Navy.

At least 10 bags filled with secret papers were left undestroyed, following the North Korean attack and seizure of the intelligence ship Jan. 23, 1968. Most of the documents belonged to Harris' "research space," where most of the Pueblo's secret activities were carried out.

For more than a week the court of inquiry at the naval amphibious base here has focused on the reasons so many secret papers fell into the hands of the North Koreans who boarded the Pueblo without resistance.

Exactly why the intelligence crewmen only spent 10 to 15 minutes burning papers was unexplained. The Navy summary only noted: "Kell said burning of classified documents ceased when he received word from someone to stop burning. He couldn't remember who gave the word. . ."

Price Shifts Small In Stock Market

New York (AP) — The stock market got off to a late start Tuesday and went almost nowhere, although trading was heavy.

The New York and American stock exchanges set back their opening one hour because of the snow emergency that had crippled New York City transportation since Sunday. The exchanges closed at the regular time under the curtailed operations schedule in effect since Jan. 2. They did not open Monday.

Volume of 12.32 million shares on the New York Stock Exchange was heavy for a three-hour session. It compared with 12.78 million shares during four hours Friday.

The New York exchange's ticker tape was three minutes late in reporting floor transactions at the closing bell.

Brokers felt that the small gains by the averages and the narrow margin of advances over declines was due to encouraging business developments over the weekend and an apparent easing of international tensions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials advanced 1.12 to 948.97, closing at its best level of the day. The Associated Press 60-stock average edged ahead .3 to 360.4 with industrials up 1.1, rails off .9, and utilities up .9.

Of 1,598 issues traded on the New York Exchange, 701 advanced, and 657 declined. There were 39 new 1968-69 highs and 12 new lows.

Among the 15 most-active stocks, 11 advanced, 3 declined, and Miehle-Goss-Dexter was unchanged.

Twentieth Century-Fox, up 5/8 at 36⅛ on 271,700 shares, was the most-active issue. Close behind was Occidental Petroleum, up 1¼ at 50⅛ on 254,500 shares.

Scientific Data, which Xerox plans to acquire in a $940-million exchange of stock, soared to 17¼ to 117¾. Xerox advanced 2¼ to 271.

Steels, motors, rubbers, rails and tobaccos were mostly lower.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Volume slipped to 5.59 million shares from 6 million Friday.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Change In Buying Habits Can Help Offset Inflation

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Living Costs

While the financially unsophisticated are looking to the government for salvation against inflation, the prudent are making personal adjustments.

Besides seeking inflation hedges in common stocks and in such new devices as variable annuities, the economically alert as consumers are also looking for offsets to the skyrocketing cost of living.

The December consumer price index rose for the twenty third successive month. The cost of living measure reached 123.7% of the 1957-59 average. The December 1967 to December 1968 rise in living costs was 4.7%, the biggest advance since the 5.9% rise during the Korean War in 1951. The upturn in living costs from December 1966 to December 1967 was 3.1%.

Although inflation is primarily a money disease, resulting from monetary and fiscal excesses, consumers accelerate the vicious cycle when they fatalistically assume that every category of expenditures should, willy nilly, cost more in dollars.

Real Burden

To those whose dollar income rises as much as the cost of living, the changes constitute a washout. The real burden falls on those with static incomes.

Instead of passively continuing to mark up dollar costs, some change their buying habits. For example, some new car buyers switch to second hand automobiles or, if staying with new cars, go into a lower price class. Buyers of custom tailored suits settle for cheaper ready made garments. In foods, there is an opportunity to buy nourishment relatively more cheaply by transferring from popular cuts of beef, such as rounds and sirloins, to chucks and shanks. The most expensive steaks, the prime cuts, are more fattening than lower priced choice or commercial items.

The balancer of the family budget knows the economy of eating at home instead of in a restaurant. Nationally, restaurants charge in menu prices on average two and a half times the food cost and three times the liquor cost.

Thirfty housewives put a damper on living costs by buying perishable items in season when they are plentiful and freezing them for deferred use off season when prices are much higher. Similarly, current merchandising provides economies in substitution of canned fruits and vegetables out of season when the fresh items are far more costly.

Big Savings

Another adjustment is made by eschewing full service stores for discount houses and in buying staples in the large economy sizes. Sometimes big savings can be made in durable comfort goods by settling for marked down non-current models or in white goods by waiting for the January and August clearance sales.

On vacations, the cost of going South is enormously reduced by making visits at non-peak season times, when the benefits don't drop proportionately to the charges. Travel economy is offered through group and package deals. There is also a tremendous price spread on planes between economy and first class rates.

In pharmaceuticals, enormous savings can be achieved by inducing physicians to prescribe drugs by generic names instead of by brands.

Sometimes the adjustment to inflation need be little more than shifting financing habits. The "buy now and pay later" installment plan can be abused; financing charges add significantly to living costs. Savings institutions are urging prospects to reverse the process, and expand buying power through saving now and buying later.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self addressed stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Vote Will Decide Proposal At NBC

Stockholders of the National Bank of Commerce (NBC) will vote at 1:30 p.m. Friday on a plan that would organize a one-bank holding company, according to Glenn M. Yaussi, NBC chairman of the board and chief executive.

If approved, the NBC Co. will be formed and will hold 100% of the bank's stock.

The more than 800 bank stockholders would receive two shares in the new company for each share they now own in the bank, Yaussi said.

P St. Mail Box To Be Removed

The mail collection box on the south side of P St. by the Capital Hotel will be removed during the construction of the YMCA, according to the U.S. Postal Department in Lincoln.

The construction will make the area hazardous and the box will be returned when the building is finished.

Tiemann Defends Motor Vehicles Chief

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann Tuesday defended State Motor Vehicle Director Emmett J. Dennis and said he will take a "wait and see" attitude in evaluating resignations of nine staff members in the department.

The nine staff members submitted their resignations Monday at the request of Dennis.

Tiemann said Dennis "has latitude to operate his own department" and "we'll take a wait and see attitude about the matter."

Most To Be Retained

Late Tuesday, Dennis said "most" of the employes he asked to resign will be retained, but he declined to detail names or numbers until his review is completed by the end of this week.

Dennis also refused to confirm or deny reports that John Ceverny, Department of Administrative Services' budget analyst, has been offered the deputy director's post in his office.

Tiemann's comments came after a meeting with 65 county treasurers and county clerks in the Governor's Hearing Room.

Questioned

During the meeting, scheduled several days before the resignations were revealed, several county officials asked Tiemann why the resignations were called for.

"There are ways to break up cliques and this is one way," Tiemann said. He did not elaborate.

"Dennis asked for the resignations, and put them in a desk drawer until it is desirable to accept them," he said. "This is a way of getting a person's attention."

Named Last Fall

Dennis was appointed to the post last fall by Tiemann to replace Larry Johns, who became Tiemann's administrative assistant.

Dennis said he doesn't subscribe to the "broom sweeping clean" concept, but some changes are necessary to improve the department.

During the Tuesday's meeting with the governor, Lancaster County Clerk Carl Hartman said the department "has deteriorated to the point where it is not performing its duties and cannot do so under present management structure."

Hartman said the condition results from lack of depth in qualified personnel, budget problems and lack of communication between the department and county officials.

He said "governors — past and present — have failed to realize the importance of selecting qualified directors."

Very Concerned

Saline County Treasurer Stan Pospisil told Tiemann he is "very much concerned" with the recent resignation of Deputy Director Bill Edwards.

Pospisil said, "Mr. Dennis has caused a great deal of concern and anxiety."

He said "without a doubt" that Johns and Dennis "are the worst two motor vehicle directors I've dealt with in my 29 years as county treasurer."

Tiemann said that while treasurers and clerks might have had some trouble with Dennis and Johns, "I'm not sure you communicated with them either."

The governor said money problems and low salaries plague all departments in turnover of personnel, and the motor vehicles department "has been more of a stepchild than most."

Task Force

"I'm willing to do anything in my power to make the department function efficiently," Tiemann said in suggesting the county officials appoint a "task force of five members" to confer further with him.

In answer to another question, Tiemann said his administration has "no black ball system," and "any of the resigned employes are free to be hired by another department."

The nine staff members who submitted their resignations are Charles Kaufman, chief of financial responsibility; Ralph Saathoff, registrations chief, Edwin Grubb, chief examiner; Ray Johnson, motor vehicle inspection chief; Eva Wood, budget and fiscal officer; Mrs. Faye Nuenfeldt, drivers record chief; Mrs. Anne Hanks, deputy financial responsibility chief; Sandra Brock, deputy registrations chief, and Mrs. Adeline Bauer, chief of stolen vehicle records.

Director Had 3 Suspensions

State Motor Vehicle Director Emmett J. Dennis Jr. confirmed Tuesday his driver's license had been suspended three times in the past three years.

Two of the suspensions, he said, resulted from accidents in which he failed to file an accident report within the required 10 days.

One resulted in a 38-day suspension and the other mishap resulted in 34-day suspension.

He said both accidents were later determined to be the fault of the other driver.

In another incident Dennis collided with a vehicle that was waiting to make a left-hand turn. Dennis said he panicked and fled the scene of the accident.

Later convicted of a misdemeanor, he said he "voluntarily" surrended his license and ceased driving for seven months. The license was reinstated July 9, 1967, he said.

The bulldozer need no longer fell valuable old trees to clear land. It can gently nudge them, earth ball and all, into new locations where they thrive and automatically landscape new homes.

The first high-rise apartment house in America was a seven-story pueblo built in New Mexico for Indian cliff dwellers.

Old-school Englishmen still believe that central heating causes colds, cracks membranes, ruins furniture and destroys moral fiber. They prefer their draughty castles and flats.

The future kitchen, sink and all, will disappear into a free standing wall.

Winston Churchill once said that we shape our houses and then they shape us.
